At the Thirty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May 5, 1835.

The Right Hon. the EARL of CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE CLERICAL SECRETARY—

On a Motion by the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Chester, seconded by the Right Rev. the Bishop of Ohio, United States,

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, an Abstract of which has been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; and that this Meeting, while it thankfully records its sense of the increased pecuniary aid in support of Missions by which the past year has been marked, is especially grateful for those tokens of Divine Blessing which have been vouchsafed to the operations of the Society abroad.

On a Motion by the Right Hon. the Earl of Galloway, seconded by the Venerable Archdeacon Corrie, Bishop (Elect) of Madras,

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting rejoices in the steady progress of the Society's labours in its Eastern Missions, and in the extension of the benefits of the Episcopal government of our Church in the countries wherein those Missions are situated; and would call on the Members of the Society to pray that an abundant outpouring of the Holy Spirit may be vouchsafed to all Bishops, Pastors, Missionaries, Catechists, and other members of Christ's flock, who are labouring for the enlargement of His Kingdom throughout those extensive regions.

On a Motion by the Hon. and Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry, and seconded by Thomas F. Buxton, Esq., M.P.

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That while this Meeting joyfully testifies its thankfulness to Almighty God, for the peaceful and happy progress of the great national measure of the Abolition of Slavery, it especially rejoices in the prospect now opened of imparting to the emancipated population the more glorious liberty of the Gospel.

On a Motion by the Most Hon. the Marquess of Cholmondeley, and seconded by the Rev. William Yate, Missionary from New Zealand,

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting, gratefully acknowledging the signal success with which it has pleased the Great Head of the Church to crown the labours of the Society's Missionaries in New Zealand, cordially approves of the vigorous prosecution of the Society's operations in that Mission, by the gradual extension of it as circumstances may providentially admit.

On a Motion by Captain Alsager, M.P., seconded by the Rev. Hugh Stowell,

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That while the Meeting gratefully testifies its gratefulness to Almighty God for the large pecuniary means bestowed upon the Society in the last year, it regards with humiliation the very insufficient supply of suitable Labourers to occupy the numerous Stations open to Missionaries; and earnestly urges upon the Members the duty of effectual fervent prayer for such an effusion of the Holy Spirit upon the members of our Church, especially upon our Universities, as may dispose many to give themselves willingly to the Lord for the Ministry of the Gospel among the Heathen;—and that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Hon. and Rev. B. W. Noel, for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to the Right Hon. the President; to the Vice-Patrons and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends, who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf;—and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the year ensuing, with power to fill up Vacancies. (See List, after Vice-Presidents.)

Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upwards, Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, and Executors paying to the amount of Fifty Pounds, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upwards shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday, the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

VIII. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a Letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Rules of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church) a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate, to the General Committee, proper persons, as Patrons, Vice-Patrons, and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtai Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate, from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal Towns throughout the Empire.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Accounts is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their places of destination.

XVII. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often; and at such places as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patrons, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered ex-officio Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All Payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society; of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof, to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued:——The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each Candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon his designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

CHURCH MISSIONARY ASSOCIATIONS.

WHEN a disposition appears in any place to assist the designs of the Society by establishing an Association in its support, a Meeting of persons favourable to such a measure should be called. The friends who meet for this purpose should form themselves into a "Church Missionary Association, in aid of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and should proceed to appoint a Committee and proper Officers.

In large Towns, comprehending several Parishes, it may be expedient to appoint a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and a Secretary; with a pretty numerous Committee, composed of persons from the different Parishes.

In Parochial Associations, a Treasurer, a Secretary, and a smaller Committee, under the Presidency of the Clergyman, may be best suited to conduct the business.

It may sometimes be found expedient to form Associations in Separate Congregations in the same Parish, rather than one Association in the Parish at large; and in this case, also, a Treasurer, Secretary, and Committee, under the Presidency of the Clergyman, will suffice to accomplish the object.

In a Voluntary Union of Friends, whether the members of the same family, the children of a school, or persons connected by affinity or friendship, such arrangements may be made as may prove most convenient to themselves.

In this manner, Benevolent Persons, willing to assist the designs of the Society, from the domestic circle to the largest town, may unite for a purpose most beneficial to their own minds, while it expresses a due regard to the glory of God in the salvation of the Heathen, and a proper sense of their own infinite obligations to Divine Mercy.

BY THE

HON. AND REV. BAPTIST WRIOTHESLEY NOEL, M.A.

MINISTER OF ST. JOHN'S CHAPEL, BEDFORD ROW.

SERMON,

MATT. XXVIII. part of Verses 18, 19.

ALL POWER IS GIVEN UNTO ME IN HEAVEN AND IN EARTH: GO YE, THEREFORE, AND TEACH ALL NATIONS.

It is not without thankfulness and hope, my dear Brethren, that I call your attention once again to the subject of Christian Missions; because I believe that many of you are prepared for the considerations which may arise out of our text, by an enlightened attachment to the Missionary cause; and have not assembled this evening without seeking that the especial blessing of God may accompany the exhortation which I have been called to address to you.—If, while I am conscious that many here obey the declared will of Christ in this matter in a much more zealous spirit than my own, I ask for more complete obedience, I do not make that demand on you without begging from God the pardon of my own defects; and am glad to feel a conviction, that, in seeking to promote, in some small degree, the Missionary zeal of my fellow-Christians, I take the best means to increase my own.

I. The words which I have read contain a command addressed to the first disciples of Jesus Christ, by which they were directed to preach the Gospel to the world. We have therefore, first, to learn whether that command was meant exclusively to apply to the eleven Apostles: and, if not, what other class of disciples come under the obligation to fulfil it. The commission being to teach all nations, it appears at once improbable that it was meant to be confined to the eleven Apostles; since it is scarcely possible that, during their lives, they should have preached the Gospel to more than a few of the nations of the earth. Hence we might, without further evidence, suppose that our Lord addressed them, not as Apostles, but as representing the whole body of His Disciples, in all ages; to whom he said, Go ye, and teach all nations. This supposition is confirmed by the promise which followed: Lo! I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. The aid of our Lord, in the accomplishment of this command, being hereby secured for His disciples to the end of the world, it follows that the command was addressed to His disciples in every age of the world: and since the command, intended to receive its accomplishment in all ages, must find some individual disciples in all ages to accomplish it, we may naturally inquire, whom it thus obliges now.

No one class is selected, by the terms of the command, to fulfil this duty; nor is any one excluded. The command is addressed to disciples generally; and therefore all who are fitted for the work, and not prevented by duties of prior obligation, are bound by its authority. From His throne in glory does our Redeemer seem to say, at this hour, to each one who, being retained by no duty, has no mental or moral disqualification—Go thou! This being the obvious extent of the command, each Christian should ask himself by what he is hindered from fulfilling it: and if he can find no valid reason to detain him, his choice of a foreign sphere of labour involving no disregard of prior duty, and if he has been judged well-fitted for the office of a Missionary by those who are called to pronounce upon his qualifications, then he ought to go. Some may, indeed, be hindered by their advancing age; others by their family ties: some are not intellectually qualified; and others want health; while another class, possessed of every requisite qualification, may be called to occupations at home, of as much importance to the welfare of their fellow-creatures, and to the promotion of the cause of Christ, as their Missionary labours could be.

But who, not detained by these or similar impediments, may consider himself free from the obligation to obey this command? Possessed as it is of an authority which subsists through all ages, and reaches to every member of the universal Church, it seems to convey to every one, both well-qualified and at liberty to go, as distinct a call as though each were individually commissioned by a voice from heaven. Certain facts may induce us to think that the possession of wealth or of talent, literary honours, the opportunity of distinction, or even fair worldly prospects, have been often considered reasons why a man should not be a Missionary. But to a serious consideration, on the contrary, these different advantages, which, if added to devotedness of heart, would materially promote his usefulness in a foreign sphere of labour, are, on that account, additional reasons why he should be one. The fact, that these very qualifications, with devoted piety, would, under God, enable him to do more than others toward the conversion of the Heathen, shows that he is especially singled out from among his fellow-Christians by this command, as distinctly as though some angelic ambassador said to him, personally, in the name of Christ, Go thou! We may further remark, that, by an ordinance of Christ, those who preach the Gospel are to live by the Gospel*: from which it follows, that those who enter on this work are entitled to look for their maintenance, not to the Heathen among whom they labour (for how should the Heathen pay for what they disbelieve?) but to the Church from which they are sent. The command, therefore, which binds them to go, binds the Church also to maintain them. Every member of the Church of Christ is, to a certain extent, involved in this obligation: those who are unable to engage in this honourable service themselves, are the more bound to show that they do not slight the command of Christ, by contributing to maintain those who do engage in it: nor must it be a reluctant and niggardly support; for Missionaries are here enjoined to teach all nations: the obligation, therefore, lies upon the Church to send, and to maintain, a body of Missionaries sufficiently large for that purpose.

II. Secondly, In the prosecution of this work, we may derive encouragement FROM THE CONSIDERATION OF ITS CHARACTER. Our commission is, to go, and teach all nations; or, as the word means, to make them "disciples of Christ." We are thus commanded not to communicate other knowledge, but to make them hear the Gospel; for how shall they believe in Him, of whom they have not heard? And this was at the time more fully expressed by our Lord; for, according to St. Mark, he added, Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature.

According to this commission, it is our happiness to make known to mankind, that Christ is a Saviour from the doom of sin, the friend of the miserable, the source of pardon to the guilty, a benefactor who bestows inestimable blessings on the unworthy, a Redeemer who brings salvation to the lost: we have to preach a full, free, complete, instant salvation, originating in Divine mercy, but consistent with perfect justice, to every believer in Christ: we have to unfold the awful but lovely attributes of God, and to declare that He is love.

By one part of our message, it is true we announce that He is a consuming fire to the obdurate; but, at the same time, we manifest by the Cross that his perfections guarantee the salvation of every penitent believer. If we must tell the world of a broken law, accumulated guilt, and threatened wrath, we have to prove all this by the mission of a Saviour. If we demand the confession of sin, and the sense of unworthiness, it is not to involve the contrite sinner in despair, but to conduct him, through faith, to peace. While we show the utter want of merit in all the religious acts of unregenerate persons, because, springing from self-love, they are consistent with prevailing ungodliness, we have likewise to declare, that God can save, without the merit of works, all who receive Christ as a Saviour. We call men to renounce their sins, but with the assurance of such grace and help, in answer to prayer, as may make the required renunciation easy. We demand new habits; but it is with the promise of that increase of happiness which the change invariably secures. We have to preach the Gospel; which directly tends to make the poor man like Onesimus, the rich like Barnabas, ministers like Paul, statesmen like Daniel, princes like David, and all, in their measure, like Christ. We have to preach the Gospel; which, if ever heartily received by a whole people, would diffuse throughout society the purest morals and the most abundant happiness. Under its influence, disloyalty and tyrannical oppression would die together; good order would not be the result of force, but of high principle; liberty would neither suffer the encroachments of power, nor perish through popular licentiousness; and all classes of society would be united into one affectionate brotherhood. Only let the Gospel generally prevail, as indeed it eventually must, and it will eject the demons of vice and discord from this tormented world; and, rendering justice and benevolence the main principle of international law, as well as of domestic legislation, will make the nations of the earth one family—and, that one, the family of God.

On all accounts, the knowledge of Christ is incomparably superior to all other knowledge. The message of His love is the best news that can fall on the ear of the Heathen. Much as there is besides, which the civilized world ought to impart to barbarous or semibarbarous nations, there is no other disclosure which can be made to them comparable to this; which, once heartily received, brings to men the pardon of their sins, and the renewal of their natures; ameliorates, beyond all other means, their present condition, and makes their happiness commensurate with eternity. In promoting Christian Missions, therefore, we engage in the noblest and most beneficent enterprise which can occupy the powers and the affections of rational beings: so obviously right, as to forbid a moment's hesitation: so merciful, as to make indifference a crime: to which we are urged by the necessities of mankind, and summoned by the voice of the Almighty.

III. Thirdly: In the prosecution of this work, we may derive encouragement FROM THE ASSURANCE WHICH OUR TEXT AFFORDS US OF ALMIGHTY AID.—All power is given to me in heaven and earth.—Go ye, therefore. We are not called, first to make the Heathen erudite and free, and then to preach the Gospel; to communicate to them the literature and laws of enlightened nations, to soften their manners, to raise their morals, and then to introduce religion: this may be the method which will recommend itself to those who, unacquainted themselves with the Gospel, have no conception of its power, when made effectual by the grace of God; but it is not the way which was ordained by our Lord, nor that which has been found to be, in practice, expedient. The command is, Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations.—Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature. The civilized and the savage, the sceptical and the superstitious, are alike comprehended in this wide decree. Accordingly, it has been largely preached to the Heathen, and, with little outward aid of any kind, has in many cases proved the power of God to their Salvation. Adequately comprehended, and affectionately received, it has led savage tribes to social order and tranquillity; has already promoted their civilization, and is now extending their commerce. Alone, without the aid of previous literature or law, it has done all this for the inhabitants of the South-Sea Islands. Alone, it has made the Esquimaux, and the Greenlander, orderly, humane, and devout: under its influence, the Negro of the Cape is advancing in intelligence and in virtue, and many of the New-Zealanders are well-instructed and affectionate believers. If it commends itself most to the highest order of intellect, it can also reach the lowest. Intended for the salvation of the world, it has been adapted, by Divine Wisdom, to accomplish its purpose: and there is no degradation of the understanding, short of idiotcy, nor any degree of moral debasement, from which it cannot rescue and save.

We are commanded, therefore, to visit every coast, and penetrate every continent, with its message of mercy.

—Without waiting for any preparatory measures, let us bring the Gospel at once to bear upon the conscience of every sinner in the world, who has an ear to hear. Yet, at the same time, secondary means must not be overlooked, lest we lay ourselves open to the charge of fanaticism, and our presumption end in defeat. When our Lord preached the Gospel, he likewise wrought miracles of mercy: He cast out demons—He cured diseases—He fed the hungry—and compelled the multitude to say, He hath done all things well; He maketh both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak:—thus attracting many to hear his word, who would not otherwise have listened to it. After his ascension, his Apostles also excited attention to their doctrines by beneficent miracles: and when the Christians at Jerusalem were exposed to want, by their Christian profession, they were supplied from a common fund. In imitation of these examples, the Missionary must, according to his power, be in every possible manner a benefactor to his fellow-men, and imbued with the spirit of Jesus Christ—must go forth, to make men as happy as he can for time and eternity, or he cannot expect to be successful in the Ministry. Let me illustrate this by the circumstances of our Indian Mission; to which, on account of its pre-eminent importance, I will, on this occasion, confine my remarks.—Throughout his ministry, St. Paul could say, We are made as the filth of the earth, and are the offscouring of all things unto this day. This suffering and shame would go to men's hearts; and, because it was a proof of his sincerity, it would be the means of his success. Now, on the contrary, while Hindoo converts must often meet shame and suffering, the Missionary to India is called to suffer little. When, therefore, they are invited to receive the Gospel, must not the thought occur to their minds, that they are called to bear a burden which their Christian Instructor does not bear himself? This may make them refuse even to listen. The Missionary must, therefore, either suffer with them, or labour to shield them from suffering. If he suffered with them, they would suffer too; but if he suffers nothing, he must endeavour to protect them. It is true, that while many other Europeans are amassing their fortunes, the Heathen may see him occupied with labours for their good: while many are intemperate, they see him moderate in all things: and this may attract their esteem. But it will do much more for his ministry, if they discover, that, when treated with neglect and contempt by many others, they occupy his thoughts, and are the objects of his sympathizing regard. How he may best testify that regard, it is not easy for one to say, who is not intimately acquainted with Hindoo Society: but some means are obvious.

1st, He may, by a little attention to medicine and surgery, convey relief to many that are suffering and sick.

2dly, He may provide some employment for the converts: in some cases, by urging upon European residents the duty of treating a Christian Hindoo with kindness; and by engaging them to employ him, not because he is a convert, but according to his capacity and moral worth: and, in other cases, by obtaining uncleared or other lands, upon which converts may settle as agriculturists, and, when cast out by their Heathen friends, may maintain themselves by labour.

3dly, He may improve their domestic economy, teach them European methods of agriculture, and perhaps suggest the best employment of their savings.

Thus must the Missionary, by a life of constant usefulness, neutralize the opposition of self-love, which is so often added to that of our natural ungodliness; and, by making them love him, before they care about his religion, must engage the natural affections on his side. Christian parents, train up your children to be all this to the Heathen;—then send them forth: and, should there be found in India an European devoted to gain and pleasure, who might despise their Missionary efforts, let them only labour thus, and the Hindoo would answer such an unworthy Englishman:—"Have you healed us, when sick; or cheered us, when sorrowful; or interposed to shield us from oppression? Have you guarded us against pauperism, or taught us the way to competence? Have you enlightened our ignorance, and rescued us from moral degradation? What have you done for us, like those good men, who have been to us as messengers from God? —Go, devotee of pleasure! imitate the men whom you revile, or hide your head ashamed!"

But further: before we can expect to change the character of Hindoo society, we must have a numerous body of Native Ministers. They, under God, are our chief hope for India. To this, therefore, each Missionary must devote his earliest and most serious attention. He must make the most intelligent and devoted of his converts familiar with the English language; and through that powerful instrument furnish them with the European knowledge, which may strengthen the character by enlarging the mind. He must instruct them in the physical sciences, in moral philosophy, in the original languages of the Scriptures, in the rules of Biblical criticism, and in the evidences of the Divine origin of Christianity. He must practise them in an accurate exposition of the Scripture; and lead them to read with attention the best works on the Pastoral character and conduct. By these methods, and by these alone, can our Missionaries train for India a body of effective Native Ministers, with the ability to silence a captious scepticism, as well as the courage to rebuke idolatry and vice.

Another class, over which the Missionary must, if possible, extend his influence, is formed of the Europeans resident in his neighbourhood; not only because their welfare demands his attention, but also because they may either, by their Christian activity, materially contribute to his usefulness to the Heathen, or by their ungodliness may do as much to prevent it.

It thus appears, that our Missionaries in that country must be men of good education and sound sense: and any number of men who might arise in the spirit of Henry Martyn, adorned with his mental powers, would find in the condition of Hindoo society abundant reasons for their compassion, and full scope for the exercise for their abilities.

If, in conjunction with these secondary means, where they can be employed, the Gospel be faithfully and affectionately preached, will it be in vain? All false religions, yielding to the progressive knowledge of mankind, are manifesting symptoms of approaching dissolution: in almost every land, the educated part of the community are becoming sceptical to every creed which has been invented by cunning, received in ignorance, and maintained by prejudice. Henceforth, no religion, apparently, will last many years, which will not bear the most rigid scrutiny into its character and claims. The current of events is therefore hurrying the population of the world to universal scepticism, or to a universal profession of Christianity.

But universal scepticism is impossible: the weakness, the fears, the conscience, and the common sense of mankind, forbid it. The preachers of the Gospel, on the other hand, claim belief for a Religion which courts investigation, and triumphs by inquiry. It has been established in the world, against all the efforts of the learned whom it humbled, the superstitious whose doctrines it exploded, the ungodly whom it reproved, and the vicious whom it condemned. High and low, the Government and the populace, civil and ecclesiastical functionaries, the sceptic and the devotee, opposed it. The only temporal inducements which it offered to those who were invited, in opposition to every cherished opinion to embrace it, was, that they should be hated by their friends, derided by the world, and, after enduring the spoliation of their goods, should be imprisoned, tortured, and killed. Yet it triumphed over all: persecution, however sanguinary, only added to its converts, till the civilized world acknowledged its divine original. Since that time, it has maintained its ground; though disfigured by corrupt human additions, impeded by the dissensions of professed believers, and disgraced by their immorality and indifference; though the profound have argued against it, the witty have laughed at it, and the proud have scorned it, it has survived the fury of its enemies, no less than the folly of its friends; and is probably, at this moment, more deeply rooted in the minds of men, than at any previous period of the Christian era. While thus it has taken hold of the civilized world—from which, as a centre, it is beginning to radiate to the ends of the earth—experiment has shown, that there are none too rude to be elevated, or too wicked to be reclaimed by it: and in our own day, and by the instrumentality of good men of ordinary mould, it has adorned the sottish Esquimaux, and the savage New-Zealander, the Hottentot, the Hindoo, and the Chinese, with every Christian virtue.

These, however, may be thought, by the enemies of Christian Missions, to be cases so rare, that they form no ground for the expectation of any general success. "Every thing," they may say, "is against you. The Hindoo loves his religion, which is endeared to him by early association, dignified by antiquity, and confirmed by what appears to him an almost universal consent: its splendid ritual imposes on his imagination; the character of its deities surrounds him with superstitious fears; and to apostatize would involve him in infamy." To all which may be added, that Hindooism, allowing free scope to the worst passions of his nature, alienates him, even more than he would be by nature alienated, from the holiness of the Gospel. Familiarity with vice has made him insensible of its turpitude; and the pantheism, so generally prevalent, while it renders a retributive judgment, in his view, impossible, has made him callous to every charge of guilt, and indifferent to the doctrine of a Redeemer. "And where," they may further ask, "have you succeeded? After years of labour, what Church have you formed in India? What Native Authors have been trained by your Missionaries to combat idolatry? What Luther of the East has gone forth from any one of your Establishments, to compel the millions of Hindostan to renounce their superstitious creed? You can point to a few thousand children in attendance on your Schools, to be soon caught again in the web of Heathenism, from which you have scarcely for a moment disentangled them. You may name a few converts, drawn chiefly from the lowest castes, without influence upon their countrymen, and, for the most part, in dependence on your Missionaries for their daily bread. But what have these Missionaries done for Hindoo Society? How have the millions of India been improved? We might have looked, ere now, for hundreds of Christian temples, erected by native hands; and hundreds of native evangelists, instructing crowded congregations. Is there any approach to this? And if Hindooism should perish, can it be by such means as you have hitherto employed? If not, your Missionaries are useless, and the Missionary enterprise has failed." To all this we might oppose one single answer: Our Lord has said to us, Go ye, and teach all nations. And we will go. Whatever omens of defeat may be drawn from the history of the past, it is our Lord's command; and we will go.—But further, if Missionaries have done but little, let us consider under what circumstances they have been placed. When the more-instructed Hindoos were told that we are Christians, what might they not expect from the universal desire of Sixteen Millions of Persons, possessed of enormous wealth, to propagate the only revelation of the will of God? Thousands of Christian Missionaries might have been expected to enter the Hooghly, and to land upon the coasts of Malabar and Coromandel. But, instead of thousands, we can only maintain about a hundred. All the wealth of this country, among all Religious Denominations, can only support One hundred Missionaries, for a part of the empire which contains, with the allied States, at least, One hundred and eleven millions of souls. Though we are the richest people in the world, and though we have drawn immense revenues from India itself, instead of sending thousands of Missionaries, we can only furnish ONE Christian Teacher to every million of our Heathen fellow-subjects.

And, then, persons ask what they have done to change the character of society.—What could they do?—What could TWO Ministers do, to instruct the inhabitants of this metropolis, which has several hundreds of Ministers? What could SIXTEEN Missionaries do for the whole population of England, Wales, and Scotland, which have more than twenty thousand? And this is the number of Christian Teachers we have given them. The disproportion between the teachers and the taught was alone sufficiently disadvantageous. But, further, these few and widely-scattered Missionaries went under peculiar disadvantages. The whole growth of British Power in India — our acquisition of Empire—our taxation within the British Territory—the victories of Clive, however brilliant — and the administration of Warren Hastings, however skilful—were little calculated to make Hindoos love the Religion of England.

These things are, however, past. It is of more importance to consider what aid has been rendered to the cause of Christianity by our more recent Government. During the period that a large part of India has been subject to our sway, what have we done for its moral improvement? We have tolerated Suttees—we have made a gain of their idolatry—we have associated ourselves with the obscene worship of their idols—we have paid their priests:—and, in what we have omitted to do, we have been as culpable as in what we have done. Why have we not, long ago, communicated to multitudes, by means of a wide-spread system of sound education, the knowledge of the English language, of history, and of the sciences—which would have been followed by the spontaneous rejection of their whole system of idolatry? So far have we been from doing this, that, till the last few years, the only men who wished to instruct them, our Christian Missionaries, have been overlooked and slighted, or opposed. Soldiers and officers, military men and civilians, despised the effort to introduce Christianity, or dreaded it. None, scarcely, helped it; while, by their vicious lives, a hundred preached against the Gospel for one who spoke in its behalf.

Under these circumstances, was it not to be expected that the Hindoo would question a doctrine which we did not seem to believe ourselves; and shut his ears against men whose Mission their own countrymen treated with such avowed contempt? Had the Missionaries been numerous, much could scarcely be expected from their labours; but they were in the proportion of one to a million!—Alone, in an exhausting climate, a stranger, and but partially acquainted with the people among whom he laboured, or the language which he must employ, each Missionary had to preach to the Heathen of the Station throughout each day, not in large assemblies, but from house to house; or, if denied access to their houses, to the small groups whom he might elsewhere collect. He had to form and watch the Mission Schools: he had to train Native Teachers in the Mission Seminary, and to select from the Seminary those to whom he might give such a sound English Education as might fit them for the Ministry. He had to maintain a vigilant pastoral superintendence over the converts. He had to itinerate far and wide, among myriads who had never heard the Gospel; and, besides all this, he had to translate, compose, and print; and when, exhausted by these labours, he needed repose, he must either labour on to death, or else see the Mission suspended, and much of his labour lost.—Can any one sincerely wonder that, so circumstanced, the Missionaries should do little?—Had they been wholly baffled, it would have been no pledge of ultimate defeat; but, instead of being defeated, they have, under all these disadvantages, been blessed already with encouraging success. They have thrown open the Word of God to nearly all the population of India. North India has its Bengalee, Hindoostanee, and Hinduwee Versions: South India, the Orissa, the Teloogoo, the Canarese, the Tamul, and the Malayalim. The furthest West is instructed by the Guzerattee Version; and the North by the Seik and the Cashmire. The Scriptures, and Scriptural Tracts, are distributed by the Missionaries: they preach in the houses of the rich; in the verandahs of the Schools; through the villages and towns; at the Ghauts, at Fairs, and at Idol-festivals, to numbers who crowd around them: and, to estimate their success, we need not confine our attention to Calcutta or Madras, where Europeans are more numerous, and the influence of caste is relaxed; nor to the larger Missionary Churches of Tinnevelly, Nagercoil, and Neyoor, at the southern point of the Peninsula; for Native Churches are beginning to form in various other Stations; among which I may mention Burdwan, Chunar, and Kidderpore, Bellary, Cuddapah, Mayaveram and Cochin: and generally, we may say, from Delhi to Travancore, when our Missionaries itinerate among the people, they everywhere find willing listeners. In connexion with only some of the few Missionaries employed by this Society, there are 647 Communicants: 424 Native Teachers begin to instruct their countrymen; while some Native Converts, admitted into the Ministry, as Abdool Messeeh, have been much blessed in their work.

The greatest difficulties of the Missionary army seem past; and now much is cheering them on to victory. The Government, through the abolition of the Pilgrim-tax, is no longer connected with the prevailing Idolatry. Education, rapidly increasing, multiplies the number of those who are sceptical to their long-established creed: and that scepticism prepares them to ask the nature of Christianity, and to examine the evidences of its Divine original. Every English merchant, and every European settler, whether religious or irreligious, will weaken the prevalent idolatry; and the use of the English language, in all political and legal proceedings, by making that language popular, and by opening European knowledge to every educated Hindoo, threatens speedily to overthrow it. The steam-navigation of the Red Sea and the Euphrates, of the Ganges and of the Indus, will first render India more accessible to our Missionaries; and then carry them, from its shores, to the foot of the Himalaya, and to the heart of the Punjaub.

Further:—we are told that European society in India has undergone a marked, though gradual, change. Not only are public and private morals improved, but the number of pious Europeans, who wish well to the progress of the Gospel, continually increases. In some places, as at Gorruckpore, European residents have given so much support to Missions, as to have taken the whole, or a large part, of the cost of a Mission from the Society at home; and, if we are not misinformed, there are various Stations now, in North and South India, which would wholly maintain a Missionary, if he were sent out to them. Thus, every year is increasing our knowledge, correcting our errors, enlarging our resources, and multiplying our friends: we are aided by the progress of Society, by science, and by commerce: but, above all, we have the help of Him, who has said to us: All power is given unto me in heaven and earth; and, lo! I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world.

This is the chief ground on which the friends of Missions may build their hopes of ultimate success. Since our Lord has commanded his disciples to go and teach all nations, unto the end of the world, in consideration of His Almighty power; it follows, that His Almighty power will be engaged to support them to the end of the world. But our Lord would not leave us to derive courage from that inference alone; therefore He has added here an express promise: Lo, I am with you alway; even unto the end of the world. With such an assurance before us from the Head of the Church, how great must be the difficulties and discouragements which could warrant those, who give any credit to his word, to forego their sacred undertaking. —Let the enemy of Missions tell us, that Christian Missionaries are a handful among uncounted millions, who cling to their faith with a resolution which is derived from affection and from fear, from habit and universal custom: let him assure us that they love the splendour of its ritual, and cherish with delight its polluting legends—that, with a credulity which no absurdities can shock, they venerate its lying prodigies—that they will still trust to silly ceremonies for the expiation of their guilt—that the force of prejudice, the consent of numbers, the torpor of conscience, the love of vicious indulgence, and the fear of one another, set them beyond the Missionary's reach—and that the small success which has attended years of labour will probably become smaller still: we give him but one answer: and that we commend to his profoundest meditation. —Our Lord has said: All power is given to me in heaven and in earth, and, lo! I am with you alway; even to the end of the world. He, who sees the end from the beginning, touches the secret springs of all events, and can influence every mind in the whole world as he pleases, is with every sincere Missionary: so that if the whole body of his disciples, in every land, aware of their responsibility, and convinced of His power, set themselves heartily to to the work, He will superintend their labours by His providence, and by His Spirit render them effectual. After raising up zealous and able agents, He will inspire them with the patient meekness, the ardent charity, and the unwearied resolution which they need. He will remove successively, in every part of the earth, the political obstructions to their ministry; surround them with co-adjutors and friends; prepare the Heathen for their message; convert the most obdurate; fill every Heathen land with flourishing Churches of his Saints; and make Hindostan and China, no less than the tribes of South Africa or the Islands of the South Pacific, His own.

Animated by such considerations, many have combined, in our day, to evangelize the Heathen: and we should be ungrateful to God, if we did not own how widely the principles upon which they act have been diffused; so that Germany, Switzerland, Holland, and France, have joined with Great Britain and the United States to send out Missionaries to almost every part of the world, from Labrador to the Eastern Archipelago, and from Siberia to New Zealand. But that which we think the symptom of reviving Christian principle, appears, on the contrary, to some, the effect of a transient enthusiasm—a fever, which, supplying a momentary force, will soon leave us in a state of exhaustion—an extravagance, which cannot last.—We must, however, be permitted, in our turn, to express our wonder, that it should be possible for any man to form that judgment. If he be a professed Christian, how can he disregard the plain injunctions to preach the Gospel, contained in those Scriptures which he acknowledges to be the Word of God: and if he be not, still how can he overlook the fact, that the world is generally wretched, and that repeated experiment has proved that the knowledge of the Gospel tends to make men happy.

Two hundred millions of Mahomedans, in Europe and Asiatic Turkey, in Egypt and Persia, in Arabia, in Africa, and in the farthest East; and about five hundred millions of Heathen, comprising the population of India, China, Japan, and the Indo-Chinese nations; require from us this salutary knowledge. In the former countries, arbitrary and oppressive governments are combined with a cruel and licentious religion, to make men wretched. Industry is checked, because the labourer can never calculate on reaping the fruits of his labour; and all property is insecure. The population, debased by servitude, is held in profound ignorance, that they may not break their chain. Their knowledge retrogrades; and the expression of thought being forbidden, thought itself is extinguished: men's minds are brutalized, and their spirits sink into a listless dejection: fair lands lie waste: famine, not sent by nature, but caused by misgovernment, after sweeping away numbers, ushers in the plague, to destroy a still larger multitude of victims: and then war and robbery come to pauperize the remainder. The latter countries, and especially India, have been involved by Heathenism in an universal curse. By exalting fictitious monsters of impurity and ferocity into divine guides and models of human conduct, it darkens all the attributes of God, distributing His honours among a multitude of disgusting idols: thus it excludes from religion the elements of love and hope; leaving nothing to govern and form the mind, besides the terror of beings believed to be as malignant as they are strong. That fear, too, can have none of the qualities of godly fear; because it is not excited by the consciousness of falsehood or wrong, of impurity or selfishness; upon which vices, gods who are themselves so vicious cannot be supposed to frown, but by the neglect of any one of the ten thousand vexatious and debasing rites which are said to do them honour. Thus Hindooism does nothing to check immorality, beyond the mere inculcation of some moral maxims, destitute of all sanction. But it does much to make men wicked: the histories of their gods, the examples of their priests, their religious solemnities, and their sacred books, all teach them to be profligate. In this manner it is preparing them for the other world, by cherishing every disposition which must there perpetuate their wretchedness. Could they enter heaven with such thoughts and affections, they might make heaven miserable, but they could not be themselves happy: they carry within them a disqualification for heavenly happiness. It is impossible, in the nature of things, that, being what they are, they can ever, in the presence of God, be happy. At the same time, Heathenism does not more thoroughly incapacitate men for heavenly happiness, than it deprives them of that which they might enjoy on earth. God has, in his Divine goodness, made us with such a tendency to happiness, that, as some plants confined in a dark chamber would shoot through the smallest apertures into the light, and blossom there, men, however debarred from many of the sources of rational enjoyment, though in want and slavery, without the conveniences of this life, and without hope for the next, would find enjoyment in the mere absence of pain—in the air and sunshine—in the vigour of the limb, and the buoyancy of the animal spirits. But while men can make themselves happy with so little, Heathenism does much to poison that little which they have. Eradicating the generous sentiments of our nature, and placing the happiness of life in sensual and selfish indulgence, it sets each man against his neighbour; and then punishes him for his own total want of benevolence towards others, by creating a suspicion of their want of benevolence towards him. If he thus escapes the pain of feeling for their sufferings, he is deprived of the solace of their sympathy. Nor can he find refuge, within the bosom of his own family, from the wintry selfishness which has frozen up society. That there is some conjugal and parental affection in India, I do not deny: nature cannot be wholly destroyed; but as soon might the rose-bud unfold its petals beneath the car of Juggernaut, as woman, meant by God to be the rose in the garden of life, could develope the amiable dispositions of her nature beneath the oppression to which Heathenism has exposed her. Polygamy must ever degrade both sexes, and therefore spoil the happiness of both. But, besides this, in India, hitherto, the cruel jealousy which has denied to women all mental and moral culture has, together with tyrannical laws, rendered it impossible for them to be the friends and the companions of their husbands: and men, in thus reducing them to the condition of slaves, have crushed to atoms the fairest gem of all their treasures, and made their children, morally, orphans from the cradle. But let the Gospel be believed in the world, and I need not say how great the blessings are which would follow its reception. If it be life eternal to know God, and Jesus Christ whom He has sent, then blessings beyond all value, reaching into eternity, attend the conversion of a single idolater. When a single Heathen welcomes Christ, there is a change effected in his condition, over which angels rejoice, and which no language is adequate to describe. The slave of sin is become the Child of God; the heir of eternal misery is become entitled to the glory of the Redeemed; and a soul is saved for ever. Besides which, he has obtained no contemptible addition to his earthly happiness: a real and vigorous Christian has a thousand sources of enjoyment peculiar to himself: he is pardoned, and renewed: he is conscious of daily improvement: he is grateful for innumerable mercies: he confides in the providence of God, and abounds in hope. Believing the rich and various promises of the Gospel, he loves the Lord Jesus Christ, through whom they have been made His; and through Christ he has learned to delight in God. He admires his Divine perfections; rejoices in His supremacy; and exults in the thought that he will one day be admitted to His heavenly glory.—If this be the happiness of a single Christian, then it would be equally the happiness of a family of Christian members—of a congregation of Christian families—or of a Nation of Christian congregations.

Thus were the Primitive Christians happy; and to the production of this general happiness does every Missionary effort directly tend: For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands. Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir-tree, and instead of the briar shall come up the myrtle-tree: and it shall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlasting sign, that shall not be cut off. (Isaiah lv. 12, 13.)

Who, with any religion—nay, with any humanity—can abstain from such a work? Who, engaged in it, can think any sacrifice too great to bring it to a successful and speedy issue? Would it seem much, if Christians should, on an average, consecrate to it one-hundredth part of their income—the poorer contributing less, and the richer more, than this proportion? This, surely, would seem far from extravagant, when what is to be performed is so great, and the results to be expected are so momentous.—Now, what, in fact, have we done? The total Missionary Income of this kingdom (including the income of the Serampore Missions, because they are English; and those of the United Brethren, because chiefly raised in England) was last year, ending May 1834, £.236,974: it may be now near £.250,000, exclusive of the income of the Bible Society for Foreign Objects, which does not amount to £.50,000; and therefore the whole Missionary Income of Great Britain is under £.300,000. Now, the whole Income of Great Britain and Ireland is about 514 millions†: hence its Missionary Income is not one 1700th part of its whole income: and if one-hundredth part of its income might not unreasonably be consecrated to Foreign Missions, then the Missionary Income ought to be £.5,140,000;—and it is £.300,000. In this professedly-Christian country, not one pound in every 1700*l.* of income is given for the dissemination of the Gospel to the Heathen world; and it is not one-seventeenth part of what it ought to be, on the very lowest estimate of what ought at once to be given. I may further remark, that the duty levied upon four articles of consumption, all of which are generally useless, or nearly so, is thirteen millions*, or about 43 times as much as the whole Missionary Income of Great Britain and Ireland! And if such be the amount of duty, what must be the value of the articles themselves? To instance only one of them; the amount of ardent spirits consumed in Great Britain and Ireland, in the year 1832, was nearly 26,000,000 gallons; the cost of which, to the consumer, was about £.17,000,000. Thus, the people of this Christian country spend about 56 times as much, for one noxious gratification, as is given to enlighten and save the world. They spend now, to destroy their characters, to ruin health, to beggar their families, to destroy their bodies and their souls, to fill the hulks with criminals, and to supply the gallows with its victims, a sum of money, which might, in a few years, adequately supply every Heathen Nation with Missionaries! With the blessing of God, the cost of one English vice might Christianize the world.

One 1700th part of their annual income, one 56th part of the cost of a destructive vice, is all that the inhabitants of this country—so blessed by God, and so familiar with Scripture, glorying in the Christian name, and cherishing the hope of immortality, through the merits of Christ—can give, to make their Redeemer, their Preserver, their Benefactor, and their God, known among mankind; and even this little niggardly fractional contribution is conceived to be symptomatic of enthusiasm! Oh, that we could fasten down, for a few hours, the attention of the frivolous and dissipated beings who think so, upon the momentous facts of this question; and if there were any conscience left, they must awake to their responsibility, and see the guilt of their indifference. After enduring, for twenty years, hardships and sufferings innumerable, in preaching the Gospel, St. Paul hesitated not, in the prospect of equal trials, to make this memorable profession: None of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the Gospel of the grace of God. And they think it a mere waste, to consecrate one 1700th part of the national income to that object! Paul willingly gave his learning, his abilities, his time, and his life, to prosecute it; and they, holding the same belief with him, will give nothing. Professedly, they identify their hope of happiness with the work of Christ; and yet are contented that the world should remain in profound ignorance of His mission. They acknowledge His authority, and then throw His commands aside, as antiquated and impracticable. They maintain our creed to be a revelation from God, and then treat it as though it were a detected lie. And while the Scriptures, which, in words they venerate, declare the Heathen to be in a state of imminent danger, they will coolly leave them to their fate, against all evidence denying their misery or danger; apparently, lest the acknowledgment of the melancholy truth should interfere with their own reckless and profuse expenditure. Thus, they are consuming in ostentation, and lavishing in folly, what was entrusted to their charge, by God, for the benefit of mankind. They are neglecting all that is great in life, and pursuing all that is frivolous; and they are going shortly to account to their Maker for a stewardship, the ruling principle in the discharge of which will, I fear, be found to have been, not a veneration for his will, but unlimited self-indulgence. At that day, how trivial will the splendour seem by which they are now so anxious to outshine their equals! How little will they then rejoice, that they had once commanded more than others, of the materials of luxurious enjoyment! and how desirable will it then appear, to have reclaimed the vicious to purity, the ignorant to wisdom, and the profane to godliness! But, alas! we cannot teach them: fashionable frivolity will still repress their energy of thought; pleasure will still enchant their imagination; the world's flattery will drown the voice of conscience; the Bible will be still unheeded; and the great ends of life forgotten.

Then, Brethren, the honourable work devolves on you. If the wealth of the country be, at present, withheld, then you must evangelize the world without it. Does this seem impossible? Undoubtedly, it cannot be done at once. But even now, without any of that aid which the world at large refuses, and without the delay of a single year, how much you have it in your power to do! What immense results, with that help of the providence and grace of of God, which I believe he NEVER refuses to prayerful, dependent and self-denying effort, would follow, if, before the next Anniversary, the associated numbers of this Society should send out to India only 100 additional Missionaries.

1. Let me suppose, that, in addition to those already labouring there, 100 able and pious young men were at once distributed among our 24 Missionary Stations in that country. This additional force would afford four new Missionaries to each Station; and thus five Missionaries, on an average, would be provided for each of our 24 Missionary Stations in India. From the Mission, so strengthened, it would be reasonable to look for much more than five-fold fruits. Now, the solitary Missionary, at some of our Stations, must be distracted, overworked, and oppressed, by his complicated duties. He must therefore either neglect some of them entirely, to the great detriment of the Mission, or he must hurry from one duty to another, compelled to fulfil each imperfectly; till, exhausted by labour and overtaken by sickness, he is obliged to suspend the Mission; and the refluent tide of Heathenism, overflowing the whole sphere of his labours, obliterates nearly all the characters which he has traced with so much labour on the shifting sands.

Yet, notwithstanding all the present difficulties, the number of communicants at the six Stations which have Ordained Missionaries, and which have sent in returns, was, at the publication of the last Report, 535; and the number of Missionaries then in actual service, at the same Stations, was 11: thus there were above 80 communicants to each Station, on an average, and above 40 to each Missionary. At the eleven Stations at which our Ordained Missionaries are placed, there were, at the same date, 365 Native Teachers; and the number of Missionaries was 22: so that the proportion of Native Teachers to ordained Missionaries was 16 to 1. If, therefore, we assume that 22 Missionaries have laboured at those Stations for the last 20 years (which is, I believe, beyond the true number), and overlook the number of Native Teachers lost to the Missions by removal and death, then each Missionary has, on an average, in the course of twenty years, brought into active service 16 Native Teachers. With the much more effectual system which the Missionaries could adopt, if their numbers were greatly recruited, and with the immense advantage of a preparatory work in the neighbourhood of each Missionary Station for the last twenty years, we may calculate upon at least double the effect in the next twenty years. We may therefore anticipate, that, should our Missionaries be of the same spirit, and should the Lord not withhold an equal blessing, each of the 100 Missionaries would, at the end of twenty years, have added 80 communicants to his Native Church, and brought 32 Native Teachers into active service:—if so, the whole number of their communicants would be 8000, and that of their Native Teachers, 3200. If, then, we assume that only one in every 10 of these Native Teachers were of sufficient capacity, strength of character, and fervour of piety, to be admitted to Orders, then would there be a body of 320 Native Clergymen in conjunction with our Missionaries.—This would be the first effect of sending out 100 Missionaries within the next year.

2. Let us next consider its effect upon other Societies. The London Missionary Society, which had, at the time of their last Report, 29 Missionaries actively engaged in the work—the Baptist Society, which has zealously laboured for the good of India — the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel—and the Scottish Missionary Society—would all be stirred to brotherly emulation; and it cannot be considered too sanguine to calculate that they would, together, add another Hundred to the Missionary corps of India. Upon this supposition, the direct effects produced by our 100 Missionaries would be at once doubled; and, at the end of twenty years from this time, the new Communicants would be 16,000; the new Native Teachers would be 5760; and the new Native Missionaries, 640.

3. Let us next consider the effect of this movement in the European residents at each Missionary Station. Impressed by a seriousness so unequivocal, many, surely, would see the guilt of disregarding the salvation of the Heathen, and their danger while neglecting their own. And, since it is stated, by those acquainted with India, that there are various places, now, at which the Europeans would maintain a well-qualified Missionary, if he were sent out to them; would it be too much to expect, in the improved state of European society, that out of 35,000 Europeans, civil and military, many of whom have large incomes, a sufficient number would be found to maintain at least 30 new Missionaries in different English Stations? This would, of itself, be of great service to the Missionary cause. But further, would these awakened Europeans be content with contributions to maintain a Missionary? It is certain, that they would, in a measure, become Missionaries themselves: and if only 2000 Europeans, throughout India—indigo-planters, merchants, civilians, and military officers—begin to diffuse Christian instruction among the Heathen, this would do more, perhaps, than any other means, to rouse a spirit of religious inquiry among all the millions of the British Territory.

4. Let us next consider the effect of all this upon society at home. Let the world see 200 able and educated young men embark for the Indian Missions, under whose care Hundreds of Native Ministers and Thousands of Native Teachers would be trained to promulgate the Gospel. With this, let them see European society in India undergoing so great a change, that Europeans there should maintain 30 Missionaries, and 2000 of them should be actively engaged in the dissemination of religious knowledge. Let all this take place, and, I believe, multitudes of intelligent and well-disposed persons in the world, hitherto sceptical respecting Missions, or who had never devoted their attention to the subject, would discover how inconsistent it is with the Christian profession not to engage heartily in this work; and hundreds of new Associations, and thousands of new Subscribers, would probably, at the end of twenty years, place another Hundred Missionaries at the disposal of the Society.

5. If, at the end of twenty years, all these hopes should be realized or surpassed, then consider what would be the whole effect, in India, of sending out 100 new Missionaries, before the next Anniversary. (1) We should have there 430 Ordained Missionaries instead of 100, which is about the present number. (2) Two thousand Europeans would be actively assisting them in the promulgation of the Gospel. (3) There would be 1376 Native Ministers; and (4) there would be 12,384 Native Teachers. So that on the whole, (5) there would be 1806 Ordained Ministers, with 14,384 Lay Agents; making the whole number of Europeans and Natives, actively engaged in diffusing the knowledge of Christ, 16,190. And (6) these would have to act upon a people very much prepared for the acknowledgment of the Gospel—by the progress of European knowledge among them; by the large circulation of the Scriptures and other Christian Treatises; and by frequent opportunities of hearing the Missionaries who had itinerated among them.—In such circumstances, should the Lord give His blessing, the conversion of India would not be far off.

6. But the effects of your zeal would be felt far beyond India. The Servants of God, in every land, would be roused to more vigorous action; and the impulse which you would communicate to other Missionary bodies would furnish new Labourers—from America, to the Missionary Churches of Burmah and Siam; from Holland, to those of the Indian Archipelago; and from the French Protestants, to their Mission in South Africa. The Methodist Society would pour forth new Missionary bands to the South-Sea Islands, the West Indies, and the Canadas. The Eastern States of America would provide new preachers and pastors for the rapidly-augmenting population of the valley of the Mississippi; and the Evangelical Societies of the Continent would send forth more Home-Missionaries for the Roman-Catholic population of Europe.

Of the importance of this proposed augmentation of our Missionary force, no one can entertain the slightest doubt. The only question is, its practicability. Without the aid of those who altogether refuse their co-operation, because wholly indifferent to Christian Missions, can it be done? I answer: It can be done at once, and easily. Among all the friends of the Society, are there not Fifty, at least, who, without foregoing a single real comfort which they now enjoy, without sacrificing what is more to them than the weekly penny contributed by the labourer, or the annual pound by the domestic servant, could each contribute 300*l.* to the maintenance of ONE additional Missionary to India? One generous person has already signified her intention, henceforth, to do so for New Zealand. Will not 25 more be found, to follow that Christian example, for India? Thus 25 Missionaries might be sent. Among the larger and more wealthy parishes and congregations, with which some of our Missionary Associations are connected, are there not, at least, 50, in which 10 persons might add 10*l.* to their annual subscriptions; 100 persons 1*l.*; and 200 more 10*s.*; without involving themselves in any painful sacrifice, or in the least diminishing their contributions to any home-object? Each such parish, or congregation, could maintain one additional Missionary. If there are 50 who could do it, will not 25 be found generous enough to make the example, and thus add 25 Missionaries to India? Further—among the young men who take a benevolent interest in our Missions, are there not 50, who, at their own cost, might give ten years to Missionary labours, as some in their circumstances do, to travel for their pleasure? If so, will not 10 be found sufficiently devoted to do it? Thus, 60 new Missionaries might be raised; and, with these examples before them, surely the other Associations of this great Society would not find it difficult to provide for the remaining 40:—and thus, 100 additional Missionaries might be sent out within the year.

If it be objected, that the men, and the money, are wanted to improve our home-population, the advocate of Missionary effort may freely surrender to such objectors every contribution which would be as usefully employed at home: for domestic objects, of equal importance, have a paramount claim to our regard. But if we demand, for Missions, the men and the money, which, doing little or nothing here, might be so immensely beneficial elsewhere, no one can justly term us inconsiderate. We want that money to be given which is now spent in useless splendour, or applied to ambitious accumulation. We want young men to go, who are about to bury superior capacities, and effective energy of character, in the counting-house. We want those to go, who, having studied medicine with success, have yet formed no professional connexion at home, and would only leave more room for others of equal ability and knowledge. We want him to go, who, as a Minister of a small country-parish, is spending the moral power, which he has acquired by a complete education and large intellectual resources, not in instructing a city, or itinerating through a province, but in teaching two hundred rustics, who would still, though he embarked to-morrow, have the Gospel faithfully preached to them. We want those to go, who, without any important duties to detain them, possessed of health, fortune, and ability, are now doing little or nothing for the world with the five talents which God has entrusted to their charge.—Now, should a Hundred pious and able men from among these classes, constrained by compassion, and animated by hope, embark on this enterprise — as noble a band as ever left the shores of England—would the loss of them, however great, impoverish us? On the contrary, they would not convey a greater blessing to their adopted country, than they would leave to that of their fathers. When the news should pass from house to house, throughout our Association, that they had looked their farewell to their country's cliffs, commending their cause, at their departure, to our affections and prayers, we could scarcely fail to catch something of their spirit; and, while detained by paramount considerations from following them, we should resolve, before God, with more than wonted solemnity, to devote our best energies to advance the cause of Christ at home. I believe, that if a Hundred devoted men did go, it would infuse an unction into the ministry of thousands in this land, inspire our prayers with fervency, unlock the refused treasure, make Christians love each other, and, being equally the effect and the pledge of an enlarged blessing from God, would multiply conversions in our congregations, and, rebuking the worldliness of multitudes, form a new era in the Church, to be marked by a holier ardour, and a more self-denying energy in the whole course of Christian duty.

Only let the experiment be made. In this congregation are probably numbers who have influence with various Associations; some who are possessed of wealth; and some who are Ministers of Christ. Will you, then, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, to the utmost, by example and by argument, animate our Associations, generally, to provide the Heathen with a Hundred additional Missionaries within the next year? In the name of a world of sinners, I ask it of you: I ask it in the name of Christ.—If YOU, my Brethren, who are possessed of wealth, will, as one indeed in your circumstances has generously determined to do, spare, of the income which the Almighty has entrusted to your charge, enough to send forth ONE Missionary to make known the Gospel of His grace, you will set an example of Christian liberality, which may be of incalculable use to numbers. If YOU, my Brethren, who are members of large and wealthy Congregations, will assist your Ministers to the utmost, in raising, among members of their flocks, an income for ONE additional Missionary, other Ministers will be encouraged, and other Congregations will show an equal liberality. If you, my dear Brethren, connected with various Associations, will place before them the urgent necessity there is that a generation of 700,000,000 of Mahomedans and Heathen, within thirty years to stand before their Judge, should be taught, so that your Associations may set the example of fervent charity and of liberal contribution, others would zealously follow it, and a Hundred Ordained Missionaries would shortly go forth from us, to evangelize India. Go then, beloved Brethren, and before the Throne of Grace—as stewards of the property of God—as ransomed by Jesus Christ from eternal ruin—as accountable beings very soon to stand in the presence of your Maker—as strangers and pilgrims, who will soon be called to rest in your eternal home—resolve to fulfil to the utmost that work which has been given you to do. The millions of India are waiting for it; their present and eternal welfare —the character of their being through countless ages— their unspeakable loss, or everlasting glory—depend, under God, upon your decision. Oh! if we had the spirit of the five hundred exiles of Herrnhutt, who, poor and persecuted as they were, furnished, in ten years, Missionaries to St. Thomas and St. Croix, to Berbice and Surinam, to the North-American Indians, and the Negroes of South Carolina, to Algiers and Guinea, to the Cape of Good Hope, to Ceylon, to Tartary, to Lapland, and to Greenland—or, if we were animated by the zeal of the early Christians, who, without funds or powerful friends, and even denied the protection of the law, within two centuries filled the civilized world with the knowledge of the Gospel—we certainly could not, as a Society, suffer Bengal, Bahar, and Agra, with our still more northern provinces, even to the frontier of the Seiks, containing a population of 72 millions of our fellow-subjects still cursed by idolatry, to remain, at this moment, with only four or five of our own Missionaries who are able to preach the Gospel to them. On this system of feeble and scattered Missions we can never rationally hope to influence the society of India. Missionaries must be near enough to support each other: there must be a division of labour: and when one Missionary is disabled, another ought to be ready at once to enter on his labours. It is essential to the welfare of India, and needful even to give effect to our Stations already established, that many new Labourers go forth.—And who will send them, if we do not?

Still, during the next thirty years, if we refuse to send them, the Hindoo will be worshipping the licentious Krishna and the sanguinary Kalee; numbers will still endure the torture of the swing at the Kurruck Poojah; tens of thousands will still drag the Idol Cars of Pooree; they will still kiss the feet of the Brahmin, and still enrich the vicious Fakeer by their misplaced contributions; their infant children will be still murdered; and their parents still be suffocated on the banks of the Ganges;—they will still live in forgetfulness of immortality, and die as the beast dies.—If we send them not, Allahabad and Patna, Benares and Delhi, will see no Churches of Christ rising among their mosques and their pagodas;—a thousand cities and villages, which might have been evangelized, will still wear the yoke of Satan; and millions of souls, which might have been instructed, will still remain in ignorance of the love of Christ. But if so, would not the voice of our brother's blood cry against us to God? The momentary shriek of every devotee, who, through the influence of a vile superstition, sinks into the Ganges—the feeble cry of every infant in the hands of the murderer—the moan of every sufferer who dies unheeded by the road-side—will ascend to God against us;—nay, the self-torture and the profligacy of each wretched devotee—the lasciviousness and cruelty of every idol-feast—the degradation of one hundred millions, who shall within thirty years have passed into eternity, with characters made up of all the vices which are hateful to the Deity, and incapacitated for the bliss of Heaven—will, at the bar of God, accuse our sloth, our scepticism, and our inhumanity —our ingratitude for innumerable mercies, and our disobedience to positive commands.

But, above all, my dear Brethren yet in the spring of youth, I appeal to you!—if, after much consideration and earnest prayer, you come to the determination to consecrate your literary, scientific, and theological attainments—the vigour of your intellect, and the bloom of your life—to advance the promised reign of Christ among One hundred millions of Hindoos, will your fellow-Christians refuse to send you forth? I believe that they will not. When you have consented to make the greater sacrifice, I cannot believe that they will refuse the less. We may be worldly, and slothful, but not to the degree which could resist your appeal to our hearts and consciences. If only TEN of all this assembled congregation should dedicate themselves to this cause, would not our Associations be led, by your example, to furnish NINETY more? And if, then, a revival of Religion should follow your devoted determination, so that our prayers should grow more fervent, our preaching more forcible, and our conduct more exemplary to the world, which of you would regret, hereafter, the part which he had taken in that great movement, which had ultimately planted the Gospel in a large region of the East, and imparted a more vigorous life to the Churches of the West? To your dying day, your resolution of to-night would be a source of joy.

But not only may those rejoice who are permitted, in the providence of God, to tread in the steps of Swartz and Martyn: for both those who go, and those who send them forth, are engaged in the best of causes. Whether your enterprise be approved as generous, or ascribed to fanaticism—whether the success which you anticipate be regarded as within the reach of determined effort, or be esteemed chimerical—you have the comfort of reflecting, that the propriety of your course is not matter of mere opinion: you are combined, under the express authority of Christ, to effect the very noblest ends, by means which, with His blessing, will effect them. You may meet with gigantic difficulties; you may be tried by long delay; but ultimate success is certain;—and no words can express the blessings to the world which that success implies. In promoting the single Mission to India, you are pouring the light of Science upon the chaotic darkness of their extravagant literature; you are calling into wholesome exercise the mental energies which superstition and despotism have united to crush: you will ensure (more than it could be ensured by the British bayonet) the peaceable enjoyment of the fruits of industry to those whose melancholy history has been a series of civil conflicts, unnatural wars, and bloody massacres—whose cities have been continually plundered, and whose fields have been reduced to desolation: and you will eventually qualify for freedom, those to whom an immemorial slavery has been as the unchangeable law of their existence. You are called to accelerate their civilization, to refine their manners, to elevate their sentiments, and to raise their morals. And when, through your instrumentality, the Gospel shall have been heartily received among them, temperance and industry, benevolence, probity and truth, displacing the opposite vices, will chase away a large proportion of even the physical evils by which they are afflicted; and, instead of that frightful selfishness which now prevails throughout Hindoo society, domestic affection, one of the best foundations of all national happiness, will render the homes of countless families, though hitherto the scenes of discord, peaceable and happy. Nor are these the only blessings which will flow to them, through your instrumentality. It is your yet higher vocation, to dethrone their Idols, to unseal to them the Book of Truth, to unfold to them the invisible world, and to guide them to eternal life, through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus Christ whom He has sent. By imparting blessings like these, you will win for this country a purer fame than it ever derived from the most brilliant achievements of its armies. Generations to come will bless the name of each generous benefactor, who, afar from his own family and friends, spent the vigour of his life in laying the foundation of their national prosperity: and when every military vestige of British dominion shall have been obliterated from the soil of India, and not a European fort nor an English soldier shall be seen from Cape Comorin to the banks of the Sutlege, Churches and Schools, and Libraries and Hospitals, will be our memorials, among the hills of the Peninsula, and along the valley of the Ganges: we shall live in the grateful memory of a people, who will owe to us their science and their laws, their literature, their morals, and their religion—whatever dignifies human life, or lends a charm to cultivated society—whatever teaches men to live with happiness, and enables them to die in peace. This would surely be reward enough, for all the sacrifices which the most zealous in the cause can ever be called to make!

Go on, then, in the name of God, and prosper! With you are Truth and Charity, Justice and Religion: against you, falsehood, selfishness, and impiety. None but the wicked can blame your efforts; and none but the cold-hearted can be indifferent to your success. Year by year, your forces will be recruited, by all the wisest, and the best. The sensual and the frivolous, the religious formalist, and the profane, may oppose your cause; but all who believe the Bible, or love the Lord Jesus Christ—all who are humane, and all who are capable of appreciating what is generous and beneficent—will inevitably join your ranks. Every year our friends multiply; and all things are conducing to our success. At this moment, what is wanting to enable us to take moral possession of a large portion of the world? Not men;—for if thousands were to be devoted to this cause to-morrow, each class of the population would be still redundant. Not money;—for, as we have seen, ample funds might be provided at once, without impoverishing the contributors. Not intelligence and education;—since there is enough wasted in Great Britain to enlighten the world. Not encouragement;—for never were facilities so numerous, and never was time so opportune. Our great and only want is, a larger measure of the grace of God. Without this, to judge by our past experience, ages must roll away before the Heathen can be blessed with the knowledge of Christ:—without this, our Missionaries, few, and scattered, must still wrestle with insurmountable obstacles to extended success:—without this, the world in general will remain indifferent to Missions, despising their object, or denying their practicability: —without this, it will be well for us, if, after the melancholy example of so many Churches, in various ages, visited by Divine influences for a little while, we do not relapse into that religious insensibility, from which we have scarcely yet emerged. Should the Almighty, as the just punishment of our neglect, permit this, our Missions would speedily languish: for, although a few Missionaries may rise above their contemporaries in the knowledge and love of God, they will, for the most part, be marked by the prevailing characteristics of the body from which they are taken. If, therefore, the Church should decline in grace, its Missionaries would become as few as they would become lukewarm: or should they be still numerous, they would only go forth to disappointment and defeat; their faith could not meet the difficulties of their position; they would have no cheerfulness in their duties; no blessing would rest upon their mechanical labours; and they would, either in a worldly spirit and for worldly ends, toil on, through a tedious round of heartless and ineffectual formalities; or throw up their office in disgust. In either case, the world's derision would accumulate around the frustrated enterprise; the lingering zeal of the Church would gradually expire; and the very name of a Missionary would become contemptible.

But if, on the contrary, the Lord will be merciful to us, and bless us, and cause His face to shine upon us, then we shall, beyond all question, advance to such a series of moral triumphs, as have never yet inspired the people of God with admiring awe, or enlarged their gratitude and hope. Led by the Spirit of God, each Christian Missionary will be proof against the deadening influence of familiarity with Heathenism; and will preserve, amidst the universal earthliness around him, a spirituality of mind. Under that guidance, he will be persevering through all discouragement, and assiduous amidst a thousand temptations to sloth. Neither the stupidity of those among whom he labours, nor their falsehood, nor their indifference to his instructions, nor their ingratitude for his kindness, would be able to extinguish, or even cool, his benevolence towards them: he would be strong in faith, and mighty in prayer: by a blameless and beneficent life, he would preach to them more loudly than by the force of his arguments or the fervour of his appeals: the blessing of God would rest upon his labours: he would irresistibly penetrate their minds with the conviction of his disinterested good-will: he would reach their consciences: he would subdue their hearts.

Under the same constraining influence, the Church would afford numbers of such Missionaries, and provide ample funds for their support. For then, exulting in the merit of Christ, and happy in His love, we should feel that we are no longer our own, but bought by the price of His sufferings, and therefore bound to consecrate our powers and our property to His service: then, filled with all joy and peace in believing, we should feel a compassionate desire to see all others share in our happiness: then, living in the light of eternity, we should continually remember, that both we and our fellow-creatures must, in a few days, be brought before the bar of God; and our abounding hope of eternal glory for ourselves would mingle with the most intense compassion for those who seem to be as much without hope as they are without God: then, of all employments, that of the Missionary would be esteemed most honourable: while the highest Missionary qualifications would be not uncommon; and Missionary ardour would send numbers of able, laborious, and devoted men to every land, where there might be yet a Heathen population to be reclaimed. Then the parent would bless God, when he should see his children consecrating their energies to His service; and every Association would rejoice in the contributions which it might be enabled to afford. Then, all Denominations of Christians, not merely expressing languid wishes for Christian union, nor contented with ineffectual regrets at the want of it, but heartily—affectionately—openly—universally, and thoroughly united in counsel and in operations, would send forth Missionaries as united as themselves, to whom the very thought of the mean and momentary party-cause, superseding the glorious, holy, and eternal cause of the Lord Jesus Christ, or in the least degree interfering with its progress, would be odious and intolerable; and the Heathen would see Christians to be but one brotherhood. And when thus the graces of the Spirit should shine forth resplendently in the Universal Church, nations would come to her light, and kings to the brightness of her rising;—a little one would become a thousand, and a small one a strong nation;—then we might expect, that, in answer to the prayer of millions, the Spirit would be poured on all flesh;—and then the kingdom of God would come.

What then can we do, to hasten this blessed consummation?—Our great resource is PRAYER. The Lord Jesus has Himself taught us to say, continually, Thy kingdom come. He Himself has ordered us to pray the Lord of the Harvest to send forth Labourers into the harvest; and the encouragements to prayer are very great. Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are; and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain; and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months. And he prayed again; and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.—The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Oh! that my voice might reach the most-distant Christian village in the furthest frontier of the civilized world, or the solitary dwelling of the last Christian householder in the unbroken wilderness beyond that furthest frontier, to entreat the whole family of God on earth, through every land, to pour forth their unceasing supplication to Him, for the outpouring of His Spirit, on them, and on the world!—Oh! how we need the interposition of our Maker! But, if we cannot reach others, is the Lord's ear heavy, that it cannot hear even a few of his children, associated to implore His help? At this moment, while yet we feel solemnly impressed upon our minds the necessities of the world and our own, let us resolve that we will frequently pray for this grand blessing. To the end of life, let us pray on, in faith. Whatever delay may be ordained, to humble us for our sins or to try our faith, let us pray on with unwearied perseverance, till it be imparted. Should we thus engage Almighty God to interpose for the sanctification of the Church and the salvation of the world, we shall yet see all that we desire accomplished. Or, if not—if our young men shall refuse their services—our rich men withhold their contributions—and men in general stand scornfully aloof from our undertaking —you, at least, will have done YOUR part. And if, at the Last Day, the Almighty Judge will say to those who have employed their talents in His service, Well done, good and faithful servants! it is not presumptuous to hope that the same gracious welcome shall then reward your labours and your prayers.

THE COMMITTEE.

DELIVERED, IN SUBSTANCE,

TO THE ANNUAL MEETING,

HELD MAY 4, 1835.

AT EXETER HALL, STRAND.

REPORT,

PATRONAGE.

THE Committee have the satisfaction to report, that the Right Hon. the Earl of Chichester has accepted the office of President of the Society.

STATE OF THE FUNDS.

The Receipts of the Year stand as follows:—

Institution Building Fund	63	17	9
Disabled Missionaries' Fund	890	8	8
General Fund	68,627	18	3
Making a Total of ..... £.	69,582	4	8

Of this sum, 11,766*l.* 11*s.* 9*d.* consists of the munificent Legacy of the late respected Horatio Cock, Esq. of Colchester.

Independently of the above Legacy, the receipts, on account of the General Fund, were 56,860*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*; giving an increase on the last year's income, on account of that fund, of 4790*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.*

The further analysis of this sum also affords a satisfactory view of the present financial situation of the Society;—47,759*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.* being derived from the Associations; or 6897*l.* 6*s.* 5*d.* more than last year, from those great sources, under the Divine Blessing, of its pecuniary prosperity.

In thus briefly exhibiting the financial state of the Society during the past year, the Committee are deeply impressed with lively gratitude to Almighty God, for the pecuniary means thus bountifully vouchsafed to them, and for the evidence which it affords of the growing interest taken by the members of our Church in promoting the enlargement of the Redeemer's Kingdom among the Heathen. The Committee also strongly feel the increased responsibility incurred in administering the affairs of the Society, by this augmentation of the means of advancing that great and glorious object.

The expenditure of the year, on the General Fund account, has amounted to 55,638*l.* 16*s.* 5*d.*: that of the preceding year was, 48,622*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.* It will hence be seen that an increase of expenditure has taken place in the last year, of 7016*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.* This increase of expenditure is diffused over almost all the Missions, and is a result directly flowing from their progress.

The favourable issue to which the negociations were ultimately brought, in which the Committee were engaged at the last Anniversary for the extension of the Society's operations in the West Indies, presents a peculiarly interesting sphere of labours to the Society, and one which urges strong claims for the vigorous prosecution of them among the enfranchised population. To promote an object so strongly obligatory upon British Christians, and in which the Members of the Society take so deep an interest, a separate fund has been opened.

To China, likewise, the views of the Committee have been directed by a concurrence of circumstances, holding out the prospect of an opening for Missionary enterprise into that densely-peopled country. They have accordingly taken some preliminary measures to obtain authentic information as to the facilities which may actually exist for the entrance of Protestant Missionaries into China.

On the whole, it is clear that openings for Missionary labours are multiplying on every side, and that any assignable amount of means may be employed with the most encouraging prospect of success. But the great want of the Society is the living Agent—the faithful, devoted, humble, self-denying Servant of God, filled with pure zeal for His glory, and fervent love to the souls of men. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the Harvest, that He will send forth Labourers into His Harvest.

ASSOCIATION PROCEEDINGS.

It affords the Committee strong satisfaction to report the steady increase of Associations.

During the past year, Thirty-one new ones were formed.

The Committee gratefully acknowledge the valuable assistance rendered to the Society, in this Department of its labours, by those Clerical and Lay Friends who have taken part in the formation of Associations, and in the holding of Anniversary Meetings.

MISSIONARIES AND STUDENTS.

DECEASE OR RETURN OF MISSIONARIES.

In the course of the past year, it has pleased the All-wise God to remove, by death, the following individuals:—Mr. G. M. Francis, a Catechist, who died at Patna, on the 19th of December 1833; Mrs. Kissling, Wife of the Rev. G. A. Kissling, who died at Sierra Leone, on the 25th of February last, after having been delivered of a still-born child; the Rev. John Godfrey Wilhelm, who died at the same place, on the 25th of April, having faithfully laboured in the Mission there for upward of twenty-three years, without once quitting it; Mr. Edward Gillespie, a Catechist at Sierra Leone, who died of apoplexy, on the 10th of October, after two or three days' indisposition.

Mr. John Warburton, with Mrs. Warburton, left Sierra Leone on the 3d of June, on account of ill health, and arrived in London on the 14th of August; but are now preparing to return to their Station, their health having been restored. The Rev. C. L. F. Haensel and Mr. Benjamin Y. Ashwell, having suffered much from climate, left Sierra Leone on the 23rd of September; and arrived at Dartmouth on the 29th of November.

The Rev. William Morse, in consequence of serious indisposition, left Calcutta on the 5th of December 1833, and arrived in England on the 5th of May last. The Rev. Michael Wilkinson, whose health had considerably suffered from the climate of India, visited England, under the sanction of the Corresponding Committee, for the benefit of change of air. He left Calcutta on the 15th of January, and arrived in London on the 8th of May last.

Mrs. Ridsdale, Widow of the late Rev. James Ridsdale, of Madras, left that place, with her four children, on the 18th of January; and arrived in England on the 16th of May. The Rev. J. C. T. Winckler left Madras, under the sanction of the Corresponding Committee, on the 20th of January; and arrived at Gravesend on the 7th of June.

Mrs. Mitchell, Wife of the Rev. W. Mitchell, of Bombay, was obliged, from serious indisposition, to leave the Mission for England: she arrived, with three children, on the 21st of July. The Rev. William Mitchell himself has since left his Station, in consequence of his own health having so much failed as to incapacitate him from pursuing his labours there any longer, and to render his return home indispensable. He left Bombay, under Medical Certificate, on the 17th of November; and arrived at Glasgow on the 30th of March.

The Rev. William Yate left New Zealand on the 26th of June, on a visit to England, partly in reference to the adoption of further measures for the extension of that Mission, and partly on his private affairs. He arrived at Plymouth on the 17th of November.

The Rev. Henry Bernau, with Mrs. Bernau, sailed from Falmouth on the 15th April, for Berbice.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Seven of the Society's Students have been admitted, by the Bishop of London, to Deacon's Orders; and five have been admitted by his Lordship to Priest's Orders, during the past year.

INSTITUTION AT ISLINGTON.

The Principal reports, at the close of another year, that the Institution is in a sound and thriving state.

In the course of the year, Twenty-five Students have been admitted into the Institution, in addition to those reported at the last Anniversary. Six Students have departed to their respective Stations; two have been removed by death; and twenty-seven still remain.

Concerning two of the Students who have died, the Principal thus speaks:—

Of the two deceased Students, one was a foreigner; and died at Bâsle, whither he was sent, after his health became seriously affected, in the hope that it might be renovated by his native air. This hope was not fulfilled; but we have the consolation of knowing, that he died in the peace and hope of that Gospel to which his life had been piously consecrated.

The other was a Londoner, and breathed his last within the walls of this Seminary; which he had adorned, during the whole course of his education, by eminent piety, and an exemplary discharge of all his duties. With excellent natural endowments, and with all the improvement that several years of diligent study will produce in a strong and reflecting mind, he gave promise of becoming a superior workman in the Missionary service, and was anticipating a speedy departure to the destined sphere of his labours. But Divine Wisdom saw fit to call him to his rest, before he was allowed to put his sickle into the foreign harvest. The friends of the Society cannot but deplore his loss; but they will learn, with pleasure and thankfulness, that, even in the narrow sphere assigned to his domestic exertions, he was owned of God; and that our Seminary has benefitted, and will, it is hoped, continue to benefit, by his singularly bright example, either witnessed or remembered.

NUMBER OF MISSIONARY LABOURERS.

The number of Missionaries sent out last year was, Four Ordained Missionaries, and Five Catechists and Artisans: four of these being married, the total number of individuals sent forth is thirteen.

The total number at present engaged by the Society, as Ordained Missionaries, or Catechists, exclusive of Native Teachers, and of the Wives of the Married Labourers, amounts to 110.

MISSIONS.

WEST-AFRICA MISSION.

The accounts given of this Mission have now for a long time much resembled one another in two particulars; namely, the small strength of our Missionary band in that Colony, and yet the manifest blessing vouchsafed to their simple, unostentatious and uniform labours. The number of European Missionaries and Catechists in this Mission is Six, with several Native Schoolmasters and Schoolmistresses. The attendance at Divine Service on Sunday amounts to fully 3000 in number, assembling at eight different places of worship. It is worthy of remark, that the attendance, at Church, and at

School, is larger now, when only Eight Stations are partly occupied, partly visited, than was the case nine years ago, when it was in the power of the Society to occupy Twelve Stations. Missionary Prayer-meetings are also kept on the First Monday of the Month, and Collections made by the Liberated Africans for the Church Missionary Society.

The death of the Rev. J. G. Wilhelm at this Station has been already reported. The following well-deserved tribute is paid to his memory, by the Rev. G. A. Kissling:—

He had borne the burden and heat of the day for nearly twenty-three years in Africa—one of the most trying climates in the world to Europeans—without ever once leaving it, even for a short period. I was often forcibly struck with the very sweet spirit which dictated his little private notes, for several months before he was taken from us; and his conversations and prayers breathed the simple and sincere desires of one ripe for glory. May a double portion of his spirit be granted to us; and may our latter end be like his, which was peace!

INSTITUTION AT FOURAH BAY.

This Institution, with its small, but important charge of more-advanced African Scholars, is continued, under the care of Mr. Kissling; who thus reports of its state:—

The Youths are still instructed in Singing, Reading, Spelling, Writing, Arithmetic and Grammar. They have also received lessons in Geography, from dictation; and have been occasionally exercised on the Map, which has become one of their favourite employments. I also observe, that a short and simple survey of the history of the Church of Christ excites great interest among them; and the accounts of the persecutions and sufferings of the Primitive Christians, in particular, work much upon their feelings.

The family devotions are mostly accompanied by catechizing, and practical remarks on the portion of Scripture which we read, in the regular course. The Rev. J. Raban has kindly undertaken to conduct the evening devotion.

FREETOWN.

The Rev. J. Raban having returned to the Colony at the close of 1834, and being appointed Secretary to the Committee there, has considerably relieved Mr. Kissling. Mr. Raban thus reports concerning the state of Gibraltar Chapel—

The attendance of the people on Public Worship has been very encouraging, as to numbers; there having been a falling off only for a few weeks, during the prevalence of an epidemic: and their serious deportment in the House of God, has, with but few exceptions, afforded satisfaction.

The Sunday School connected with Gibraltar Chapel is held during two hours of the interval between the Morning and Evening Services.—Of the Colonial Boys' School, Mr. Collins reports concerning their improvement on the Week-days, and their exemplary conduct on the Sundays—

It affords me much pleasure to have it in my power to state, that, as far as external behaviour and a progress in human learning go, there is a manifest improvement. I am greatly pleased, also, to observe among the children a growing reverence for the Sabbath. It is a pleasure to meet them at our School-room on the Sunday morning, most of them neatly dressed, and to walk with them to Church. Their behaviour at Church is much more becoming than formerly; and as many of them have Bibles and Prayer-Books, they add, by their repeating the responses, greatly to the solemnity of our excellent Liturgy.

RIVER DISTRICT.

The Rev. G. A. Kissling has latterly been stationed at Kissey, and still bears a favourable though brief report, as follows:—

The congregation has continued very numerous: their behaviour has been becoming, and, in appearance, devout; and their attention to the preached Word has also been gratifying. The people in general have had regard to the ordinances of the Church.

Concerning the Schools, also, Mr. Young reports—

The same thirst for Christian Instruction exists in many; and the same order is maintained in the School, as formerly reported. The principal number of those who can read the Holy Scriptures, are either Communicants, or Candidates for Baptism.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

Of the several Villages in this District now occupied by the Labourers of the Society, the following Reports are made by the Rev. J. F. Schön, and the Catechists associated with him.

WELLINGTON—A Missionary is not stationed at this place; still (Mr. Young writes) Divine Service has been regularly performed here; and I am encouraged by the regular attendance of the people on the outward means of grace.

REGENT—Of this Station, Mr. Schön remarks:—The death of the late Mr. Gillespie has again deprived this Station of a resident European. Since that mournful event, I have endeavoured to perform Divine Service there once every Lord's Day.

GLOUCESTER AND LEICESTER—I am happy to state (Mr. Schön writes) that the new Church or Chapel at Gloucester is now so far finished, that Divine Service can be performed in it. Out of a population of about 1138, including Leicester and some distant farms, 710 have attended the Sunday-Morning Services; and in the evening, the number has often exceeded 600. After service, persons have repeatedly come to me, stating how much they were alarmed by one or other truth they had heard, and have wished me to give them further instruction.

BATHURST—The Services at this Station (Mr. Schön writes) have, on the whole, been well attended.

An interesting account is also given, by Mr. Schön and Mr. Weeks, of the Baptism of five Candidates at this Station.

There are none of the Society's Labourers residing at the Station of CHARLOTTE; but on Sundays, an Evening Service is performed by a Native Teacher, the people attending at Bathurst on the Mornings of the Lord's Day.

The Committee close their Report of the Mission in Sierra Leone with the following remarks of the Rev. J. Raban and Mr. Weeks, respectively:—

Often (Mr. Raban observes) as I have had occasion to regret the reduced state of the number of European Labourers employed in the Colony, still the present strikes me as being the most feeble state of the Mission I have ever witnessed.

Were I able to suggest any thing which might induce the Parent Committee to compassionate our weakness, and to make some exertion in order to strengthen our hands, I would gladly do it. I would mention, that the little I have yet seen of the state of the Liberated Africans, as far as they are connected with us, is decidedly favourable. Of this I think, that the greatly-increased attendance on Public Worship, the exertions of the people at Gloucester in building a temporary Church, and the regular contributions of the people to the funds of the Society, are sufficient indications.

The effect and importance of our Schools (Mr. Weeks remarks) are yearly more plainly to be perceived. The children born in the Colony, who have received from us a Scriptural education, are now becoming parents; from whom, we would humbly hope, the blessing of that instruction will descend to their offspring; whilst they themselves are thereby rendered capable of receiving further instruction in the doctrines and precepts of the Gospel.

TIMMANI COUNTRY.

The Committee deeply regret to state, that the health of the Rev. C. L. F. Haensel suffered so severely during his residence in the Timmani Country, that he has been compelled to return home, for its recovery. The ability and perseverance with which Mr. Haensel devoted himself to this Mission, as long as he had any remaining strength, entitle him to the warmest affections of the friends of the Society.*

MEDITERRANEAN MISSION.

MALTA.

The operations of the Printing-press at this Station, under the superintendence of the Rev. C. F. Schlienz, assisted by Mr. Brenner, and, in the Printing, by Mr. Weiss, have been continued with diligence and ability. The number of Publications issued from Malta has been comparatively small, amounting only to 30,081.* It is observable, that some of the Arabic Publications of the Society, which had previously found their way into the Schools established by the Pacha of Egypt, have latterly also been in demand for the Schools now establishing in Constantinople: they have likewise been distributed in Algiers. Thus, there is strong reason to believe, that the operations of the Printing-press may extend from one end of the Mediterranean to the other, and prove an important instrument in promoting that great work of conversion among Papists, Mahomedans, Oriental Christians, and Jews, for which the prayers of the Church are constantly ascending to the Throne of Grace.

GREECE.

The Rev. F. Hildner, during the past year, has been prosecuting his valuable labours in this Island, in attending to the Pædagogion and other Greek Schools. The ill health of his family has, however, occasioned some interruption to his plans. He has also, during the vacation, been engaged on a visit to the Island of Crete. He reports concerning this visit—

> My stay there lasted three weeks. I travelled over various parts of the Island: I encouraged people to erect Schools, of which there were none; and contributed something particularly to the establishment of a Girls' School at Lania. I distributed a good number of Bibles, Books, and School-materials; had various conversations with different persons, especially with the Clergy: and, on the whole, I think that my visit to that Island, so interesting and eligible in a Missionary point of view, has not been in vain.

ASIA MINOR.

The Rev. Andrew Jetter reports concerning the Greek Schools under his charge—

> Our Schools are at present in a more flourishing condition than ever before; we having succeeded in removing them to more convenient houses. At the lowest computation, we have 500 Children under instruction at present, in 7 Schools; and at every one we have perfect liberty to speak as freely as we should do to children in Europe.

* See Church Missionary Record, Vol. for 1835, p. 71, for a List and Description of the Publications of the Malta Press, in Italian, Greek, Arabic, Maltese, and Turkish.

He mentions also concerning Female Education, as conducted in one of these Schools—

This is the first Public Girls' School ever erected at Smyrna; and it has already done extensive good, during the four years of its existence. I generally visit it every Sunday, to explain the Gospel; when I have often as many as sixty children to hear me.

Of the course pursued in Meetings for Religious Conversation, he also reports—

The Greek Religious Meetings, twice a week, are continued as usual; and we have lately had a better attendance than formerly. An old Greek has joined us; who first came merely out of curiosity, but now he attends from real interest. We are now reading, at present, the Epistle of St. Paul to the Romans, which we go through pretty minutely. May the Lord smile upon these feeble endeavours!

The Society's plans in reference to Missionary preparations in the Turkish Language have been interrupted by the serious illness of the Rev. J. F. Müller, who at present is absent from Smyrna.

EGYPT.

The labours of the Missionaries at this Station have varied very little from those of former years. The Rev. Messrs. Krusé and T. Müller constantly preach, both in Arabic and English; and the Rev. J. R. T. Lieder has performed two extensive journeys, in the Delta and in Nubia; in which, besides engaging constantly in religious conversations and discussions, he has distributed more than three thousand copies of portions of the Holy Scriptures and Arabic religious publications, printed at the Society's Press at Malta.

The Seminary at Caïro, which last year was reported as established by the Missionaries, has continued in active operation. The daily duties of this Institution are thus described by the Rev. W. Krusé:—

All the boys rise at day-break; and, being washed and dressed, they have to learn their lessons, especially the Biblical Catechism, till seven o'clock; when we have Family Service, in which I read a chapter from the Old Testament, accompanying it occasionally with some practical remarks: we have now arrived as far as Exodus. They then take breakfast. At eight o'clock, Mr. Faris comes, to instruct them till dinner-time, twelve o'clock; after which they are free till two; when instruction, under Mr. Faris, again begins, and continues till five o'clock: they then have half-an-hour's leisure, after which they have to commit and prepare their lessons. At seven o'clock, supper is served up: after which they are again set to study their lessons till eight, when I have Evening Service with them. I read a chapter out of the New Testament, in which I have now gone through the first two Gospels, enlarging more in my applicatory remarks than in the morning, and keeping particularly in view the state of their hearts. Immediately after the Evening Service, which usually lasts till nine o'clock, sometimes a little longer, they all go to bed; and, before they sleep, I always hear them for some time read and pray together in their bed-room.

Your Committee having voted a sum of money toward the building of a Place of Worship for the use of the Missionaries and their hearers in Caïro, the following successful commencement of the plan is stated by Mr. Müller:—

On Easter-day we opened the Chapel. We had a congregation of thirty English, among whom was the British Consul-General. We obtained more subscriptions than we expected. None of the expense of the Chapel will fall upon the Society. The Mahomedans are pleased to see no image in our Church: but last Sunday, a Levantine lady was at Divine Service, who was a little surprised not to find some Saint; and after looking around the walls for some favourite image, she made the cross and sat down. We have now Divine Service, every Sunday, in Arabic, German, and English.

ABYSSINIA.

The arrival of the Rev. Messrs. Gobat and Isenberg in this country, in prosecution of the important labours in which Mr. Gobat has been formerly engaged, is thus related in a letter, dated December 20, 1834:—

This morning, about eight o'clock, we entered the harbour of Massouah; and soon after went on shore, where the temporary Representative of the Governor received us with much civility in the Governor's house; which, when at Jidda, was appointed by him to be our lodging during our stay in Massouah. God be praised, that He has, in His mercy, assisted us so far, to accomplish the greater part of our journey to Abyssinia! and, although the remainder of it is still connected with difficulty and danger, our past experience is a pledge for future help. Our prayer is, that we may be filled with gratitude, with faith and reliance on Him alone, and with a deep sense of our duty to live only to Him and to His kingdom.*

CALCUTTA AND NORTH-INDIA MISSION.

CALCUTTA.

THE Missionaries at present in Calcutta are, the Rev. T. Sandys and the Rev. J. Hæberlin. Mr. Hæberlin was called down from Kishnaghur to succeed the Rev. W. Morse. The following account is given by the Corresponding Committee, concerning the Ministerial Labours, and the Progress of Christian Education, in this Station:—

There are in attendance at the Mission Chapel, Mirzapore, between two and three hundred Native Christians; to whom the Word of God is constantly preached and Catechetical Instruction given, and to a great part of whom the Ordinance of the Lord's Supper is regularly dispensed. One hundred and twenty-three individuals have been admitted into the Christian fold, by Baptism, in connexion with this Mission, during the year.

Of the above large addition to the Christian Native Church, twenty-nine Adults, and fifteen Children connected with them, were from the village of Digheepor, near Diamond Harbour.

Besides the Christian Mission Establishment at Mirzapore for the Hindoo Converts, there is now, in Calcutta, a separate Service and School for the Mahomedan Population. From forty to fifty, about half of whom are Christian Converts, attend Divine Service on Sunday Mornings. The School averages thirty-nine Boys.

The Schools under the Church Missionary Association are going on as usual. They are fourteen in number, containing 765 Children. The instruction in these Schools comprises Reading, Writing, Grammar, and Geography, besides a knowledge of the Sacred Scriptures.

The English School on the Mission Premises contains, at present, about 200 boys. Of the benefits resulting from this School, the Corresponding Committee have the highest opinion. Many visitors have expressed, not only approbation, but surprise, at the progress and attainment of the Boys, especially of the first two classes.

The Corresponding Committee further report concerning the Natives brought into the fold of Christ, as follows:—

At a Confirmation holden by the Lord Bishop of Calcutta, in the Cathedral, on the 24th of March 1834, thirty-six of the Native Converts, from this Society, were presented for Confirmation. His Lordship, after the administration of the rite, exhorted them, through the interpretation of the Missionaries, to cleave to the Lord with purpose of heart, and to adorn the Gospel by a holy life.

In reference to the Society's Press at Calcutta, it is stated—

At the repeated suggestions of the Parent Committee, it has been determined to enlarge, as much as possible, the sphere of the operations of the Press. With a view to facilitate this object, the Press will be removed to the town; where it will be under the immediate eye of the Secretary; and, with the assistance of Mr. P. S. D'Rozario, the Society's Printer, a cheap and efficient superintendence will be ensured.

BURDWAN DISTRICT.

The Rev. Messrs. Weitbrecht, Krückeberg, and Linké, and Mr. Alexander, a Catechist, are fully occupied in the duties of this extensive District. The labours at the respective Stations are reported as follows. Mr. Weitbrecht states concerning BURDWAN—There are, at present, nine Native Schools; five of which are supported by the Society; and four by the subscriptions of the residents at the Station, who liberally contribute sixty rupees monthly for this object. In these Schools there are 754 boys receiving daily instruction; half of whom, at least, read the Scriptures, Pearson's Geography, Catechisms, Bible History, &c.

It is stated concerning

BANCOORAH—At an Annual Examination of the Schools, in October last, about 250 boys were found reading the Gospels, Geography, and other useful books; and fifteen of the best scholars commenced reading easy lessons in English.

At the Station of CULNA—Mr. Alexander's circle of Schools is in an improving state. In the villages where the Schools are situated, as well as the surrounding villages, the Word of God is made known by Mr. Alexander's discoursing with the Natives, and by the distribution of Tracts and portions of the Scriptures.

Of the next Station and its neighbourhood, it is reported—

KISHNAGUR—Mr. Krückeberg, who is at present at this Station, is carrying on the work which has been so auspiciously commenced. He has the charge of Nine Schools—six at Nuddea, and three at Kishnaghur. There are about 500 boys in attendance. Several of these have made considerable progress in the knowledge of the books they are reading.

The Committee are happy to add, that the Rev. W. J. Deerr has returned from this Country, to renew his labours in this District.

CHITTAGONG—At the pressing and repeated applications for a Catechist and Schoolmaster from the civil and military residents of this Station, as well as from several Natives, it was felt an incumbent duty to comply with their request.

Mr. Marshall, appointed to this office, reports, that a School-room has been built; that thirty-six scholars have been registered; and that there is every prospect of usefulness in connexion with it.

PATNA—In consequence of the death of Mr. G. M. Francis, late Catechist at this Station, it has been thought desirable to remove Mr. J. Macleod from Buxar, to supply his place. Two Native Schools have been placed under his superintendence, containing about sixty boys.

BUXAR—A Christian Native has been appointed as Catechist here; who will give Religious Instruction to the few aged widows, &c. who remain at this Station.

GORRUCKPORE.

The Rev. R. B. Reynolds, formerly Catechist at this Station, having given full proof of his zeal and ability, has been admitted by the Lord Bishop of Calcutta to Deacon's Orders; and, with the help of Native Catechists, supplies the place of the Rev. M. Wilkinson, during his visit to this country for his health. The Committee have the satisfaction to state that Mr. Wilkinson's health has much improved; and that his return to India may be expected to take place shortly.

BENARES.

The Labourers at this vast resort of blind and misguided devotees—this great metropolis of Hindoo Idolatry—are the same as mentioned in the last Report; viz. the Rev. Messrs. W. Smith, J. C. Knorpp, and C. B. Leupolt, with Mr. R. Steward, who is the Teacher in the English School.

The labours in which they are engaged are thus stated by the Corresponding Committee:—

Messrs. Smith and Knorpp have been actively engaged in direct Missionary work; preaching at Benares, and making excursions, for the same object, to the surrounding villages and the great fairs, &c.

The Hindoostanee Congregation, in the Lines, was increased by the present regiment having a greater proportion of Christians connected with it. The average number in attendance on the Sabbath is from 40 to 50. They have also Service on Wednesday Evenings.

The number of Baptisms, since the last Report, is nine; of which two were Adult Converts, one an orphan, and the rest infants.

The Society's Charity School, originally founded by the late Baboo Jay Narain Ghossaul, continues in useful operation. The Rev. C. B. Leupolt has undertaken the superintendence of it; under whom are employed, the Master, four Native Teachers, and five Monitors. The number of Pupils usually in attendance amounts to 152; of whom, 50 are reading English, 57 Persian, 21 Bengalee, and 24 Hinduwee.

Besides this School, there are two others in the bazaar, and one lately established in the city, under the superintendence of the Rev. J. C. Knorpp: the report concerning them is favourable.

Another School has lately been established at Buragaon. A respectable Brahmin has given a convenient house, rent free; and offered to take the charge of it, under the direction of the Missionaries.

Much good seems likely also to be effected by means of the Grammar School established here; in which, at the suggestion of the Venerable Archdeacon Corrie, a course of instruction has been introduced, tending greatly to shake the Hindoo Youth in the belief of their sacred books. Mr. Leupolt, writing to the Committee, Dec. 8, 1833, gives the following instance: he states—

At the beginning of this month, on the suggestion of the Venerable Archdeacon, I began to introduce more Geography into my School; and have spent two hours every week for the purpose of instructing the boys in it. One day, having given the general proofs of the earth being of a spherical form, and having mentioned its magnitude, I asked one of the boys to seek for the sea of honey and milk, and the place where it rested upon the head of the old serpent. He, turning the globe round, and looking here and there, said at last, "I can find nothing of either." Others, hearing this, burst out into laughing, saying, "You cannot find it, because there is no such thing." Another day, I mentioned the name of Ceylon, when one boy asked, "Is not that Sanka?" "Yes," I said. "To whom does it belong?—the English?" "To the English," I replied. "What," said he, "have the English been able to conquer Sanka, where the people are said to be of so prodigious a size, from 50 to 180 yards tall?" "They have taken it," I said; "but as to the people, they are such as you are, and none five yards tall." "But it is written," the boy continued, "in our Shasters, that there is Ravun's grave in Sanka, burning with fire, and no man can go near it; that there are streets of gold and silver; and that if any man approaches the isle, those monsters of men swallow him up instantly." I told them there was no such thing to be found at Ceylon: that there were Schools at Sanka as there were at Benares, in which the boys read the Scriptures. Upon which the Monitor of the first class, a Brahmin, replied, "Look, Sir! our Shasters tell us great lies."

CHUNAR.

The Rev. William Bowley continues with great activity his visits throughout the District, and to more distant parts. Of the care with which the Candidates for the Communion are instructed, and of the desire which they manifest for that sacred Ordinance, he gives the following account:—

In the course of conversation with the Candidates for the Lord's Supper, several pleasing things have been brought to light; namely, that the old Communicants do not suffer their friends and neighbours to be at ease, till they give themselves wholly to Christ; for which purpose they both invite, exhort, and teach them what they deem necessary to prepare them for the ordinance, and read and pray with them. Nor does it appear that any of the present candidates have been hasty in coming forward; but have been long sitting under the ministry of the Word, five or six times a week: and now that they have offered themselves, they have, it seems, done it without the knowledge of each other, and with humility for sin, and simple faith in the merits of the Redeemer; but not without trembling and fearing: blessed be God!

At Allahabad, David Batavia has steadily performed his duties; superintending two Schools, preaching daily to the Heathens, and distributing portions of the Scriptures and Tracts.

From Agra, Meerut, and Bareilly, no regular reports had been received by the Corresponding Committee.

The Committee would close this account of their North-India Mission with the following impressive remarks of the Corresponding Committee at Calcutta:—

It is impossible to convey to friends at a distance any thing like an adequate idea of the state of things at this Presidency. There are numbers of intelligent, educated, and well-informed young men among the Natives, whom knowledge has taught to see the monstrous folly and absurdity of Hindooism, who, notwithstanding, have no less feeling of hostility to the Christian Religion; too proud to be led by error, but not humble enough to search for and submit to truth. There are others with a general conviction of the truth of Christianity upon their minds, but who, from fear or interest, will not submit to its requirements. Others are halting between two opinions, and waiting for some more favourable opportunity;—while a few, a very few, are ready to renounce father and mother, sister and brother, houses and lands, for Christ's sake. The fields here truly may be said to be white unto the harvest. Oh for the spirit of a Swartz, a Martyn, a Brainerd, to animate the minds of some of the talented Youths of Oxford and Cambridge, to induce them to listen to the cry "Come over and help us;" and gladly to lay their honours and acquirements at the feet of Christ, and to feel that they are only worth possessing, when, by the grace of God, they are thus consecrated to the highest and noblest purposes! *

MADRAS AND SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.

The advantages of the appointment of the Rev. J. Tucker, as Secretary to the Madras Corresponding Committee, have been increasingly felt in this Mission. The investigation of every department of that Mission, correspondence with all the Missionaries as well as with the Committee at home, and the arrangement and, in part, execution of new plans, have fully occupied the time and attention of Mr. Tucker. He constantly preaches also in English, at the Mission Chapel in Black Town. †

* Full particulars concerning the state of the North-India Mission are given in the Church Missionary Record for 1834, pp. 1—7, 53—56, 93—113; and 1835, pp. 1—5, 45—55, 73—84.

† Among the papers forwarded by Mr. Tucker, is one of important character, for the revival and extension of the Mission of Mayaveram, which, from the departure

The Rev. Messrs. Blackman and Pettitt are engaged, respectively, in the work of preaching and education among the Natives. The Rev. E. Dent, also, who labours at this Station, has been much engaged in preaching to numbers collected by him in the streets of the city.

TINNEVELLY.

The Rev. Messrs. Rhenius, Schaffter, Müller, Lechler, and Devasagayam, are labouring at this Station. The Rev. P. Fjellstedt and his Wife have suffered so long and so severely in their health, as to require their return to Europe.

Various communications have been received from this Station during the past year, which show that many of the Natives are ready to cast their idols to the moles and to the bats; but, that they are grievously harassed by persecution, and often tempted to backslide.

The Rev. C. T. E. Rhenius states concerning one village—

There is at this place a comparatively new and unsettled congregation. At the beginning, nearly the whole village came to be instructed; but troubles from without soon frightened many away, so that there are now but ten families that seem determined to hold out. Among the backsliders is the Headman, who has become the chief of their enemies. A few months ago he was determined to destroy the congregation altogether, and set out with various schemes to that effect; but on the way he was attacked by severe illness, which checked him for that time.

Mr. Rhenius observes, that the troubles from their Heathen neighbours affect the Native Converts greatly; some of them having the idea, that, as worshippers of the True God, they ought not to be thus troubled; or, that every trouble must be removed immediately.

The Rev. Mr. Schaffter also relates—

Alarming news from Sakkannalpooram. During the night, about twenty men surrounded the house of our Head Catechist, broke open the doors, and flogged Seenavasayen Pilley, the Head Catechist, so unmercifully, that he is unable to walk; they also tore the ears of his wife, to get the ear-rings; and took away all that they had in the house. On the same day, Michael, another Head Catechist of Meignanapooram was likewise flogged, by persons whom he does not know. We have reason to think that the burning of the Catechist's house at Kadatchapooram, the destroying of our Church at Pooreiyoor, and the flogging above mentioned, are altogether connected, and emanate from one and the same spring.

The Rev. Mr. Müller thus describes the benefit of the Schools established in this District:—

It is beyond all doubt, that our Schools are really a great blessing departure and subsequent death of the Rev. Mr. Bärenbruck, and from the illness of the Rev. C. T. Winckler, had fallen into decay. But, for the object of its restoration, not fewer than three Missionaries would be required, and which the Committee purpose as soon as possible to supply.—See the chief part of this document, in Appendix I.

to the poor Heathen: the truth of this will appear from many instances related in our respective Journals. They, like the seventy disciples of our Lord, go before, and prepare the way for the Lord, or rather for His Gospel. In many places where the Missionary or Catechist would hardly be listened to, the Gospel has been brought home to their houses and souls by means of our Schools. The children read only Christian books, which they take home to their parents and friends; who also read them, and then speak about their contents to others; and thus they begin to get acquainted with the truth as it is in Jesus.

NILGHERRY HILLS.

The Committee regret to report, that the health of the Rev. J. B. Morewood continues so much to decline, that the School at this Station seems likely to be entirely deprived of his valuable superintendence.

COTTAYAM.

Since the last Annual Meeting, the Rev. Benjamin Bailey and Mrs. Bailey have returned to this Station. The long experience of Mr. Bailey, who first entered on this Mission nearly twenty years ago, encourages the Committee to hope that its affairs, which had fallen into some confusion, will be again put upon an effective footing.

In the mean time, the Rev. Messrs. Peet and Woodcock have been actively engaged in promoting the work of preaching and education. The Report made by them of the actual state of the Mission, in addition to the Education conducted in the Syrian College, is the following:—

In the department of the Grammar School there are at present 31 Boys on the Foundation; and about 16 others, principally Heathen Boys, who receive instruction only; making a total of 47 Boys, learning English, Malayalim, and Sanscrit.

In the Female Boarding School are 45 Girls, learning to sew and read. Every Sunday, nine of the elder ones bring a Psalm, or 16 verses of a Psalm, learned by memory; and their behaviour evidently shows the happy effects of good instruction.

There are at present 25 Schools, 27 Schoolmasters, and about 780 Children, now on the books; but the average actual attendance I estimate at from 680 to 700. Of these, 100 are Syrian Girls.

ALLEPIE.

The Rev. Thomas Norton has diligently continued both his pastoral and other labours at this Station during the past year. At the close of the year 1833, reviewing the works in which he had been engaged, he makes the following observations:—

During the year, I have been enabled to revise the Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Canticles, and Isaiah; to translate and revise Jeremiah and Lamentations: and now I am going on with Ezekiel. I have also prepared four Tracts for the Press, and several Handbills. It has been a fruitful year in the product of the Press; as from it have issued nearly 30,000 Tracts, 55,000 Handbills, 300 Hymn-books, and 1500 copies of the Psalms. While, on the review of this, I would raise my Ebenezer for having been helped thus far, I would also humbly and earnestly solicit the influence of the Holy Spirit to give effect to these humble efforts. Oh, that the Head of the Church may graciously make the coming year far more productive, in the translation and distribution of the Sacred Scriptures, and Tracts; and in a rich harvest of souls brought into his Church!*

BOMBAY AND WESTERN-INDIA MISSION.

The Mission established at Nassuck, under the charge of the Rev. Messrs. Mitchell, Farrar, and Dixon, has been weakened by the removal of one of this small number, Mr. Mitchell, in consequence of severe illness. The Committee purpose to supply his place, by sending another Missionary to this important Station.

In the work of teaching and preaching Jesus Christ, the Missionaries have continued to labour with indefatigable zeal: nor do the great discouragements which they encounter, appear to abate their perseverance. On the difficulty of approaching the Natives, it is remarked—

The houses of the rich, the respectable, the righteous in their own eyes, are, for the most part, closed against us. How could they associate with beings, in their estimation, more despicable than the lowest Soodra, and far more hateful? With regard to the poor, the same proud prejudices of caste, added to their uncivilized habits, preclude that access to the women, in their retirement, which is necessary to the communication of Religious Instruction. We may not enter their dwellings with the same freedom, the same welcome, or the same privacy, as we might that of the English Cottager.

Mr. Farrar, reporting on the labours of his Missionary Brother, states—

I have received, for inspection, the first portion of the Rev. J. Dixon's Translation of the Common Prayer-Book, to the end of the Epistles and Gospels. I have examined several parts of it, and deem it to be a work of first-rate excellence. It is characterized by fidelity, perspicuity, and elegance.

* For further particulars concerning the state of this Mission, see Church Missionary Record for 1834, pp. 56—70, 77—80; and 1835, pp. 89—105.

Concerning the progress of Education, Mrs. Farrar reports—

The Female School continues flourishing. The regular attendance is from 50 to 52: for several months, it has never been below 48. These all assemble daily, to hear the Word preached in the Chapel: 20 or 30 of them being able to read, more or less fluently, read or converse with me about Christianity.

In reference to the beginnings of our Society in the Western part of India, the Committee would quote the encouraging language of the Venerable the Archdeacon of Bombay:—"It is my opinion," he remarks, "that much precious seed is vegetating in the hearts of Natives, though we see nothing, or little externally. The people have, by a variety of means, acquired some new ideas of Religion, which they cannot get rid of. The last twenty years may have seen but few Converts; but the knowledge of the Saviour's Name has been spread abroad; and that Name alone, remaining in the memory, cannot, I believe, remain there wholly in vain."*

CEYLON MISSION.

The Committee rejoice to state, that in this Mission the same uninterrupted harmony prevails, as has been reported in former years; and, together with that Christian love which is "the bond of perfectness," there is a marked growth in the studies, and other pursuits, at the different Stations; although there does not yet appear that pouring out of the Spirit of God, which would be manifested by the conversion and consistent conduct of many of the Natives.

COTTA.

At this Station, the number of Religious Services conducted by the Rev. S. Lambrick and the Rev. J. Selkirk have been reduced from ten to eight, in consequence of the absence of their co-adjutor, the Rev. Joseph Bailey, in this country. They lament the prevailing carelessness of many of their hearers; yet even here, in one very important respect, the influence of the Ministerial and other labours is apparent; namely, from the diminution of Caste-prejudice, in various parts of the neighbourhood. On occasion of his visiting one of the villages, Mr. Selkirk remarks—

I was at Papilyane this morning, where I have not preached for several months: the congregation was very small. I am pleased to find that prejudice is fast dying away in this village. A year or two ago, though nearly half the inhabitants are Potters—a very low caste among the Cingalese—not one of their children came to the School; but now above one-third of the School Children are of this caste; and they read and repeat their lessons with the children of the high castes, and sit alongside of them, as though they were all of one caste.

On the work of Scriptural Translation, Mr. Selkirk makes the following important communication, under date of November 14, 1833:—

I am happy to announce to you, that the Translation of the Scriptures into Cingalese, in which Mr. Lambrick and I have laboured together for the last five years, was completed to-day. Our hearts were so delighted at the completion of so great a work, that we could not separate this afternoon, without returning thanks to our Heavenly Father, for having given us health and strength to finish it; and praying, that He would render it extensively useful to the conversion and salvation of the Natives.

The CHRISTIAN INSTITUTION, and the Schools at this Station, continue, under the blessing of God, to flourish, as formerly, in the same branches of Sacred and Human Learning, mentioned in the last Report. The Native Youths, thus training, are becoming well instructed, and prepared for Christian usefulness in after-life.

In reference to the operations of the Press, it is reported, that the expectation expressed in the Report of last year, of this department of the Mission proving an advantage rather than a burden, has begun to be realised. The number of Tracts issued from the Press in the last year was between sixteen and seventeen thousand, nearly half of which were in Cingalese.

KANDY.

A serious interruption to the labours of this Station has arisen from the illness of the Rev. T. Browning. He writes as follows:—

My long absence from the Station, twice during the past year, occasioned some little derangement in the Ministerial Department; and the want of health, when I have been at home, has often prevented me from the performance of duties in which I should have been delighted to engage. I must, however, wait with patience for returning health; and learn to serve God by passive submission when I am laid aside, as well as by active exertions when I am in health.

He adds—

The attendance of the people on Divine Worship, for the last two or three months, has been good. Some appear to listen to the Word, as though they felt interested in it. Oh, may the Holy Spirit impress it on their hearts!

BADDAGAME.

The Rev. G. C. Trimnell, and the Rev. G. S. Faught, labouring at this Station, report as follows, on the state of their Ministerial Labours, and on the progress and influence of Christian Education.

The Congregation has not, for the last twelve months, materially fluctuated; which we attribute to the regular attendance of the School Children, who conduct themselves, on the whole, with much propriety. To hear, on the Lord's Day, about 300 voices, at least, raised at the same time, in the General Confession, the Lord's Prayer, and in all the several responsory parts of our beautiful Church Service, and that in their own tongue, is cheering to us; and we hope and trust that they enter into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth.

The Schools are certainly in a more flourishing state than they have ever yet been; but we have still to lament that none of the children appear to be fully on the Lord's side. They have many and great difficulties to surmount, of which we, though living in the midst of them, can scarcely form an idea. The correct answers of the children, at their Monthly Examinations &c., delight us; and the general knowledge which they have acquired of the Holy Scriptures surprises those European Gentlemen who occasionally examine them.

Of the Seminary, also, at this Station, they report—

In the Seminary there are now twelve Youths. There can be no doubt that they have left idolatry; that they see its absurdity; and that they consider Christianity to be vastly preferable. They may have some idea of its importance, but are not, we fear, generally living the life of faith in the Son of God.

NELLORE.

The Committee regret, that, at this Station, the illness of the Rev. J. Knight's family, and the raging of the Cholera Morbus, have created very serious interruptions. The Rev. W. Adley reports—

The studies of the Seminarists have been much interrupted, during a great part of the year; and their steady progress, in consequence, considerably retarded; occasioned, chiefly, by the absence of both of us from the Station in the early part of the year: one, for about five weeks, and the other, as before mentioned, for a much longer period. And upon this followed the raging of the Cholera Morbus at and around the Station, in every direction; which continued its ravages, to an alarming extent, for three or four months; so that a large portion of the Scholars, either from sickness or fear, were absent from their studies during the greater part of the time. Many steps, therefore, had to be paced over again, before we could get the different classes into an efficient state of progress.*

AUSTRALASIA MISSION.

NEW HOLLAND.

From the letters of the Rev. Messrs. Watson and Handt, and also from their Official Report to Government,* it appears that their efforts on behalf of the Aborigines are not without good promise. They report as follows:—

A few days after our arrival, we were visited by more than sixty Natives, many of whom were wild, and had come from fifty to seventy miles' distance. They were supplied with food, a small quantity of tobacco, and a few pipes. We then interrogated them as to their knowledge of Him who had made them, the sun, the trees, &c., of which they appeared to be entirely ignorant; nor had they the least idea of a Supreme Being, of the immortality of the soul, or of a future state of existence.

A School was established at the commencement of the Mission, and is still continued. Here, from twelve to twenty children have been under instruction at one time: some have occasionally left, but others have supplied their places. They have been taught to read and spell, and have been regularly instructed in the principles of the Christian Religion. It has not been discovered that these children and youths are, in any degree, inferior in intellect or ability to those of civilized countries: they learn their lessons, hymns, and prayers, as readily as children of an English School.

The scenes of wretchedness and disease with which they meet are most distressing; but by attending to the wants of the people, and administering medicine, they find great access to their hearts. In this work of mercy, Mr. Watson states that he is greatly assisted by his valued partner: he observes—

I am happy to find that Mrs. Watson has attended to my sick patients during my absence for three or four days, administering to them medicines, dressing some of their wounds, &c. A short time ago, the very witnessing of such scenes would have been very afflicting to her; but now the Lord has enabled her to attend to these poor wretched creatures in the most humiliating point of view.

The pride of the human heart, which is ever the same in all countries, was manifested, on one occasion, among even these degraded and wretched people. Mr. Watson relates, that their native servant remained after their family worship, to say prayers with the Natives; adding—

But he would not kneel. Mrs. Watson told him that he must kneel. He said, "Poor man kneel; not me." Mrs. Watson said, "There is no difference between poor man and gentleman before God and in heaven." He replied, "Very well; that will do;" and immediately knelt down.

While the Missionaries are thus labouring, they share with their brethren the pain of seeing frequent neglect, as well as the comfort of witnessing some improvement. Mr. Watson relates, in reference to such trials—

* A Copy of this Official Document, ordered by the Council to be printed, is given in Appendix II.

This evening, a young man, who has been much about here, said, "I am going." I asked him, "Whither?" He mentioned the Station, about three miles distant. I told him that the day following was Sunday, and that he ought to come to Church. He replied, that he did not care. I said he would care, when he died. "Oh," said he, "I am a young man: good long time before I die." I referred him to a very stout Native who died suddenly a short time ago. He went away unconcerned. Such indifference to spiritual things is extremely painful; but I have often witnessed as much in my own country.

And again—

Several Natives came up to-day. After I had been speaking to them a long time on the subject of Religion, one of them said, "By-and-bye, I will come and sit down with you, and then you can tell me more of these things." The girls have been reading and sewing, as usual: Mrs. Watson says that they improve very much.

NEW ZEALAND.

Of the labours of the Society in this interesting island, where the blessing of God has been so manifestly displayed, the Committee would now give a brief retrospect; commencing with the words of the Senior Catechist, who has laboured there from the beginning.

Tepuna.

Mr. King, speaking of his Station at Tepuna, makes the following remark, which is applicable to all the other Stations:—

This Mission had to commence civil and religious life in the midst of savages, without a word of their language, or any knowledge of their customs and manners—without a book, or letters, wherewith to instruct them—without a Sabbath. I remarked some time ago to a Chief, that we had been living a long time among them. "True," he said, "all the past is lost, and cannot be recovered: we were ignorant, and bent upon fighting; and we are only now beginning to think seriously about our souls. Let us have some one out of the Schools to instruct us in God's Word, that we may improve the time to our eternal welfare."

Kerikerí.

Of this Station, besides the various Religious Services on the Lord's Day and at other times, it is stated—

We have in our Station, at present, from forty to fifty men and boys, and from twenty to thirty women, girls, and children, whose instruction has been attended to as regularly as circumstances would admit.

Paihía.

Concerning the Religious Services and the Progress in Education at Paihía, the Missionaries state—

Our Sabbath Services have been very gratifying. We have generally had very full congregations, from the attendance of Natives not living with us, of the European Families in the Bay, and, occasionally, of officers and crews from the shipping. There have been times when we could not provide accommodation.

In an evening, many of the Natives come to inquire after Truth. Though these assemblies frequently occur when we are weary with the fatigues of the day, still it is impossible to refuse their solicitations.

I have known them often wait for hours, with the desire of having a few words from us.

Our Schools are kept in action between the Services; and the Missionaries and Christian Natives move out in various directions, to declare the glad tidings of the Gospel of Peace. The Schools, five in number, have been conducted as heretofore.

Waimate.

The Religious Services and the attention to the Schools are thus stated, in reference to this Station:—

We have on the Sabbath, and on other days, regularly visited the Native Villages around us, and to the distance of ten miles. Divine Service has been regularly held every Sunday, unless prevented by bad weather, in eight different congregations, exclusive of the Settlement, containing an average attendance of upward of 600 Natives. Roads have been cut and bridges built by the Natives, to facilitate our visits among them. Several neat little houses and Chapels have been built, and others are building, in order the better to meet together for Public Worship.

About seventy men and boys have regularly attended the Morning School at this Station: the women and girls have also been instructed in reading, writing, and needlework. An Infant School, containing seventeen Native Children, has been formed during the past year; and a School of European Children, eight in number, conducted by Miss Davis.

Of the Farming Establishment at this Station, it is remarked—

Our time will be a good deal occupied this summer in erecting a water-mill. The expense to the Society will scarcely be felt, as the greater part will be effected by Native labour; and it will, eventually, be a saving to the Society, as well as a great comfort to the Natives, who will be able to get their Indian-corn ground as food for their poor children; who, for want of proper food, from the time when they are weaned till they are two or three years old, are very great sufferers. I believe that two-thirds of the children in New Zealand die for want of proper nourishment after being weaned. Many a poor mother have I visited, who has actually brought herself to a premature grave by suckling; and when we have told them that they should wean their children, they reply, "We have no food for our poor child. Shall it die?" By the erection of a mill, the poorest family about us will be able to procure nourishing food for their children: we gladly therefore undertake this work, believing that it will be of great importance to them.

A few facts may be stated illustrating the zeal with which the Natives throng to hear the Word of God preached; and the unction with which it appears to be conveyed to their hearts. It is reported:—

Long before Service commences in the morning, you see the Natives drawing together in little groupes around the Chapel, reading the Word of God, and hearing it read. On opening the doors, an effort is immediately made to get places; and, at times, in about five minutes afterward, the Chapel is completely filled: though, for want of room, numbers are obliged to remain outside.

One of the converts thus expresses his feelings:—

My soul is happy, because it knows something of the love of God: and I wish to know more, and to remember more of the great and good things which God hath done for me by Jesus Christ; and I want more to fulfil His will, and to do His bidding. My old heart is not carried away yet; it remains inside me: and when I am on my bed at night, my heart says, "Henry, do something that is not good to-morrow: and then my thoughts think about it; and then to-morrow I think about it again; and my native heart says, Do it; and I think again, and then I do it: and then my thoughts tell me I was wrong; and my heart tells me I am an unbelieving bad man: and then Satan comes and tells me, I am none of Jesus Christ's, but am his, and shall go to his place, and do his work for ever and ever and ever."

Another, a Candidate for Baptism, thus writes:—

I wish to talk with you, and for you to talk with me. I wish to ask you how I can be brought to stand nearest to the presence of the Saviour? Perhaps, by baptism I may be brought near: perhaps, by praying for a new heart. Mr. Yate, you say how. Let me take upon me a new name; for though the Native Chiefs scoff at me, and say, "Who is Kaheke, that he should believe?" it is all nonsense; yet I am not ashamed of saying to every body, that Jesus died for my sins, and is my Saviour and my God.

A third, in his last illness, thus described his state. The Missionary was observing to him—"How great ought our love to be to Christ?"—

He said, "If I were His, I should love him more."—"Do you not then love him?" I asked. "My loving heart," said he, "is small; but my praying heart is very great. I could pray all day."—I replied, "You could not thus delight in praying to Him, if you did not love Him. In a short time," I continued, "you will be where you will love Him more, and that without ceasing or interruption." This was the last conversation which I had with him. He died on the second day after.

In some instances, the Missionaries have found that the benefit of their labours has been carried far beyond what they expected. As two of them were travelling to a new and distant part of the island, they rested on the Lord's Day, and collected an assembly of the Natives to hear from them the glad tidings of the Gospel. One of them thus reports:—

We commenced, as usual, by singing a Hymn: but what was our surprise, when we heard our whole congregation join and correctly sing with us; and in the Prayers, also, the responses were given by all, as the voice of one man. We had never heard the like, and could scarcely believe our ears. I addressed them, and found them very attentive: many inquiries were made for books and slates: slates we had none, but concluded to give one of our new books to Tuma. We retired to rest about eleven, tired, but highly gratified by the day's proceedings, and thankful to the Lord. We found here three boys from the Mission, who had lived in our families for some time, and had acted as Teachers. Thus we see the work of the Lord prevail.

On the importance of the Translation of the Holy Scriptures, and the Liturgy of the Church of England, into the language of New Zealand, the Committee have reported in former years. The Missionaries remark, on these two points—

You cannot conceive the eagerness of the people for the Scriptures. In a short time, we shall have the whole of the New Testament ready for the Press.—After a severe season of drought, which has threatened us with great scarcity, the potatoe-crops being almost dried up, we have been favoured with a most gracious rain; so that now there is a prospect of abundance. I was glad of the opportunity of introducing the beautiful Form of Thanksgiving in our Liturgy, into our Native Service.

The great utility of the Infant-School System has become apparent, fully as much in its application to Barbarous, as to Civilized Countries. The following remarks, by one of the Catechists, show its peculiar suitableness to the circumstances of the New Zealanders.

It is an undeniable fact, that the savage learns to be a savage in his infancy: he only waits for power and opportunity to display his ferocious nature. The custom of the Chiefs is, to make known every thing of importance to the child. I have noticed the principal Chief of Kaitaia (a very promising man indeed) talking to his little boy as though the child were able to give him advice. The father would steadfastly look his son in the face, while describing the scene which took place; and the son would as earnestly behold the father, and show, by his strict attention, that every word was digested. The infant race are remarkably quick in observing every action of the Missionary. Once, while sitting in the tent door, I observed a number of children flock to a small rush-house, which was about ten yards from our tent, evidently very anxious to peep in. They peeped in, as fast as they could; and, as they peeped, they smiled.—At what did they smile? They smiled and evinced their joy at the sight of the heads of victims who had lately fallen in battle. Thus the infant race of New Zealanders are taught to delight in the savage and worse than brutal habits of their parents. Now it is just as easy to teach them the orderly habits of an Infant School, as to teach them the habit of delighting in war.

The Committee conclude these statements from New Zealand with one remark made by some of the older inhabitants of the island. The Rev. W. Yate writes as follows:—

Late in the evening, a number of Natives came to learn to sing a Hymn, at my tent-door; and the old men, six in number, who act as Priests, and are well versed in all the superstitions of the country, came to me, and said: "At last, the words that are straight, and the thoughts that are right, about God, the Creation, Sin, Salvation, Man, the Devil, Heaven and Hell, are come to us. You and Mr. W.

Williams must either come yourselves and dwell among us, or send us Missionaries, that we may never forget your sayings, nor turn again to our false thoughts. Till you can come yourselves, or send us others, leave us some of your understanding boys, that they may teach us; and we will learn from them."

The members and friends of the Society cannot fail to behold the hand of the Lord in these various instances of spiritual blessing and temporal improvement. The Missionaries have consequently received considerable reinforcement in their numbers; and they have already allotted to themselves two new, and more distant, Stations. Exposed as they are, by this measure, to many of the hardships of a commencing Mission, and confiding themselves, under the protection of the Almighty, to the good-will of the remoter tribes of New Zealand, the Committee would earnestly entreat the most affectionate sympathy, and most fervent intercessions on their behalf, that God would preserve them from every evil work, and carry them on safely, together with many Converts for their reward, to his Heavenly Kingdom.*

WEST-INDIES' MISSION.

It was last year reported to the General Meeting, that communications had been opened with the Bishops of the two West-India Dioceses, with a view to the extension of Missionary operations in that long-afflicted region of the Earth.

The communications entered into with the respective Bishops have led to arrangements, under which the Society has a large scope for Missionary labour, in both the Dioceses of Jamaica and Barbados: far larger, we regret to say, than the Society's present means would enable it to occupy. Upon these considerations, the Committee have grounded an Appeal, impressing on the friends of the Society the necessity of enlarged contributions, and the duty of promoting more extensively the Missionary spirit; urging, above all, the need of more fervent prayers to the God of all grace, that He would pour down richly the blessings of the Gospel upon our deeply-injured West-Indian fellow-subjects.

JAMAICA.

Concerning the thirst of the Negroes for religious instruction, the Rev. Mr. Betts, labouring in Jamaica, thus writes to the Committee:—

I began my Ministry at Knockalva on the memorable day of freedom, the 1st of August, by preaching in the Chapel to an overflowing congregation, from John viii. 36: "If the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." I think there were about 500 persons present, chiefly Negroes. Numbers could not gain admittance. I have, since that time, held Divine Service there every Sunday but one; and up to this time, the congregation continues to fill the Chapel, which I think would be filled if it were as large again. The people are very orderly and attentive; and many show thankfulness for instruction.

During the past year, three ordained Missionaries, married men, have been sent by the Society to Jamaica.

BRITISH GUIANA.

One of the Society's Catechists labouring in British Guiana reports concerning the memorable 1st of August, as follows—

As on this day, Slavery ceases to exist in the West Indies, his Excellency the Governor appointed it to be kept as a day of prayer and thanksgiving to Almighty God. I scarcely ever saw such a concourse of people as were assembled at the Church. The people who could not gain admittance—and the greater number of them could not—were assembled, at the request of the Minister, by myself and the clerk of the parish, in two large sheds, near the Church. Here the Morning Service was read: after which I spoke to them from the Word of God, and endeavoured to lead their minds to higher things than those of which they appeared to be so full.

The Committee are anxious, however, that the friends of the Society should look to the Black and Coloured Population of the West Indies, not only as claiming to receive from us the preaching of the Gospel, but as peculiarly fitted to become, eventually, the Heralds of Salvation to their own Aboriginal Kindred in Western Africa. The painful trials, sufferings, and deaths, which have for more than thirty years attended the Society's Mission in Sierra Leone, naturally constrain the mind to look out for Religious Teachers better qualified than Europeans to endure a torrid clime. Such, the Committee hope, may, in due season, be raised up in the West Indies; and they have satisfaction, therefore, in the prospect that the labours of the Rev. C. L. F. Haensel, in the intended Normal School in Jamaica, will include this object; and that thus, providentially removed from the Timmani Country, he may have been spared to commence a more circuitous, but more effective plan for blessing Western Africa.*

NORTH-WEST AMERICA MISSION.

THE prospects of this Mission, under the charge of the Rev. Messrs. Jones and Cockran, continue good. A substantial stone Church has been completed; and Mr. Jones remarks, under date, July 31, 1834—

I continue to preach to an increasing number, every Sunday Evening. Many are under serious impressions, and some are steady professors of godliness: others, again, come and go, as if they desired neither part nor lot in the matter. The attendance on the Ordinances is very large and encouraging. While we regret, in many, an absence of a vivid impression of Divine Truth, we are still comforted in seeing the upright and moral conduct of the inhabitants, as well as the respect paid to the means of grace and the institutions of the Church.

In December 1833, Mr. Cockran reports—

To-day we opened a Weekly Meeting at the Indian Settlement, for the benefit of the Adults; when we read and explained the Word of God.

And, at the close of that year, he adds—

Being Christmas-day, the Sacrament was administered, as usual, at the Middle Church, after the Morning Service. The Communicants, on being assembled at one end, appeared so numerous, as to form a respectable congregation. My thoughts recurred to former times, when we were, in truth, a little flock in the wilderness: the retrospect, connected with the present, was truly encouraging.

And on the 9th January, 1834, after having suffered severely from a snow-storm, he thus writes concerning the encouragement he derived from having a considerable attendance of hearers at the Indian Settlement:—

After hearing the children read, I held the usual Meeting: our number was large, amounting to forty-six: all the children were present, and eleven adults. This I felt to be a great encouragement to perseverance. When we reflect on the desolate appearance of this Bay last winter, when seldom more than two individuals were to be met with at the same time, we see that the work is progressive; and though it is the day of small things, yet its growth strengthens faith,

CONCLUSION.

THE Committee, on a review of the proceedings of the Society during the past year, feel that there are renewed calls for gratitude to God, and fresh encouragements to put our whole trust and confidence in His mercy. Although the difficulties attending some parts of their operations have been new in their character, yet, having looked upward for that wisdom from above which is promised to the prayer of faith, the Committee would humbly hope that their measures will continue to be favoured with a blessing from the Great Head of the Church;—the entire glory of which they would still ascribe to Him, with whom alone is all counsel, and sound wisdom, and understanding, and strength.

The state of the Funds, as already reported, is one of the circumstances, to which the Committee would advert with peculiar thankfulness; as they are persuaded that it may be attributed, not merely to an improved organization of the system of collecting, but, still more, to an increased spirit of love towards the sacred cause of Missions. The information constantly circulated, and diligently read, relative to the labours of Missionaries, is producing an influence upon the minds, the consciences, and the affections of every class of society. The name of Jesus our Redeemer, the freeness and richness of His saving grace, and the nature of the Holy Spirit's work upon the hearts of fallen men, are subjects which become every year more familiar, and more precious, to the readers of Missionary intelligence. The members of our beloved Church are feeling, the Committee trust, far more deeply than ever their insufficiency to extend the knowledge of the Gospel without continual fresh supplies of grace from above. At every step of the Society's proceedings, the voice of our Master seems to have been reminding us—"Without Me, ye can do nothing;" but, in the spirit of the Apostle, every faithful member of our Church, and every devoted friend of Missions, may yet be encouraged to say, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

But, while these enlarged funds enable the Society to widen its operations, the Committee cannot view this state of things without considerable anxiety. They feel it their bounden duty to impress the minds of their Subscribers and friends with this consideration, that every extension of Missionary operations entails upon the Society a very heavy and responsible expense for years to come. It is long, very long, before a Mission can maintain itself: no one of the Society's Missions has arrived at the point of maintaining itself; much less is any one of them able to establish itself as the centre of independent and liberal action throughout the regions contiguous to itself. If, of any part of the world, this might have been expected, might it not from our immense Eastern Empire; so long consolidated, so secure under the protection of British way, so fertile in resources, and so long assiduously cultivated in all its varieties of language and literature? But, though the Scriptures have been translated into so many languages of India, and though every facility of intercourse has long subsisted there; still, the wealth and piety of the Indies do not support (at least in connexion with our Church) a single independent Mission.—Moreover, as the families of our Missionaries increase, the education of their children in foreign lands presents a new feature of more than justifiable expense. Born, as these children are, destitute of the advantages which their devoted fathers and mothers enjoyed in this their native land, they claim from British Christians effectual help in their education. The Church Missionary Society strongly feel this, and are endeavouring to meet the exigency.

The Committee, however, do not make these remarks as distrusting the liberality of the Christian Public: still less would they doubt, with a sinful unbelief, the unfailing bounty of that Heavenly Father, who "knoweth what things his children have need of." But they have felt it right, and most seasonable when large supplies are coming in, to bring fully under the view of their Subscribers the nature of the obligations under which they lie, and the consequent rapidity with which those large supplies must flow out.

Britain is beginning to understand, more strongly than ever, her Missionary obligations. And, may it not be said of that portion of the Community especially dear to us—the Church of England—that she also is rousing to a sense of her Missionary obligations? She has manifestly been visited with a series of singular mercies: the grace of the Saviour has been displayed towards her in various ways, preserving her foundations, enlarging her capacities for good, and inflaming the souls of her Ministers and members with ardent zeal and love; and all this, unceasingly, during a period of more than thirty years. Now—as the consequence of this time of gracious visitation—do we not behold her clinging closer than ever to the essentials of the Gospel, contending with yet greater earnestness for the faith once delivered to the saints, and bestirring herself to make known the Gospel far more extensively to the wide-spread family of man? This Evangelical and Missionary spirit, this love for the Gospel at home and abroad, your Committee feel to be the great, the only bulwark of our nation. As this increases, we shall be emboldened to say, "In that day shall this song be sung in Judah, We have a strong city: salvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks." Yet, while the Committee hail the great Missionary movement in our own Church, and other kindred Communions, they still feel that the claims of the world are infinitely stronger than it has entered into the heart of any man to conceive. The preaching of the Word of God by Missionaries to every nation under heaven, and the providing of Bible-Education, by means of Missionaries and Catechists, for all Africa, for our Colonies in the West Indies and elsewhere, for the millions of India, the millions of China, and all the other nations as yet unblessed by the Gospel—these are works immensely great, requiring energies, which have not yet been roused, and resources which have not yet been touched. While, therefore, the wants of a whole world lying in wickedness thus cry aloud to men of faith and prayer, "Come over and help us!" oh, let our Missionary obligations be not only felt and avowed, but carried out into action! Lively hopes have, indeed, been excited, that from our Universities, and from the more cultivated classes of society, as well as from our humbler villages, a band of able Labourers will go forth. But, till they go in larger numbers than hitherto, it becomes the members of this Society still to use earnest entreaties with their countrymen, and instant prayer with God, that many may be compelled, by the love of Christ, to undertake this glorious, this self-denying work. The motto for the ensuing year may fitly be, Speak to all the members of the Church of England, that they go forward—the rich and poor, with their free-will offerings—men of piety and ability, with their personal labours;—all, with their prayers:—and may HE, who hath redeemed us unto God by His blood, and given to the Church the highest example of love towards perishing sinners, lead us on to further conquests, till we see all enemies put under His feet, and the whole earth filled with His glory!

APPENDIX I.

(See Page 60.)

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE MADRAS CORRESPONDING COMMITTEE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, ON THE STATE OF THE MAYAVERAM MISSION.

I. GENERAL ACCOUNT OF THE MISSION, AS IT EXISTED DURING THE LAST FEW YEARS.

THE Mayaveram Mission may be said to occupy a district extending to a distance of thirty and twenty-five miles to the south-east and south-west, and thirteen miles to the north-east; while on the west and north-west, little seems to have been attempted, owing perhaps to the difficulties occasioned by the rivers Câvery and Coleroon. The most distant places to the south-east, are Karraicl and Nagore, on the sea-coast, the former belonging to the French; Valangaman to the south-west; and Sheally to the north-east. The country included within these boundaries is very populous; but, owing to the Hindoo system of division of property among all the children, there are very few persons of any wealth or capital among them. The inhabitants are chiefly Heathen; a few are Mussulmans; and a few, Roman Catholics.

The Missionary Establishment operating upon this district was as follows:—

1 Married Missionary.
3 School Inspectors, or Catechists.
7 Readers.
1 Seminary Master.
1 Assistant ditto.
24 Schoolmasters.
5 Assistant ditto.
1 Schoolmistress.

To which may be added, a Moonshee, employed in instructing the Missionary in the native language, and certain servants, &c. mentioned hereafter.

1. School Inspector, or Catechist.

These are the principal and most responsible persons in the Mission. Their office is, to inspect the Schools within the district, twenty-four in number. There are three divisions of the district, superintended by three Inspectors, each of whom changes his division every quarter. They are expected to be absent eight days in a month; and are engaged the remainder of their time in visiting the Schools within five miles' distance. On their journey, they take a Reader with them, and a Cooly, or common porter, to carry their Tracts, &c. and prepare their rice. Their usual practice has been to spend the first half of the day in examining the state of the School, and "making a catechization;" requiring the children to repeat what they have learnt during the past month, asking them questions, and closing the whole with a short exhortation and a suitable prayer, in which the children join. The rest of the day is supposed to be spent in the distribution of Tracts, in speaking to the people, and journeying to the next village. The three School Inspectors at present are, Cornelius, formerly a Heathen, aged about 40, (for some time Mr. Bärenbruck's servant at Madras); Deivapirasâdam, a son of Christian parents, and formerly a Seminarist, aged about 28 years; and Stephen, formerly a Heathen, from Tranquebar, aged 43 years, for a long while a Teacher in the Tranquebar Schools.

2. Schoolmasters and Assistants, and Schools.

Of these there are (exclusive of the seminary), twenty-four of the former, and five of the latter; the number of Schools being (as already stated) twenty-four. Twenty of the Schoolmasters and four of the Assistants are Heathen. One Schoolmaster is a Roman Catholic; three Masters, and one Assistant, are members of the Church of England.

The hours of attendance are from six to nine A. M.; ten to two P. M.; and three to six P. M.

The books used are as follows: one plan is pursued throughout all the Schools.

First Class. — New Testament in Ta-mul, Rhenius's translation—Historical Catechism by Rhenius, by memory—Small Theology, with Texts, being an explanation of Rhenius's Doctrinal Catechism — Atti Choudy, or Nata Dya, being Moral Sentences from Tamul Writers—Writing, & Native Ciphering.

Second Class.—Second Reading Book, by Sawyer—Rhenius's Doctrinal Catechism, by memory—Morth, or Nalvali —Writing, and Native Ciphering.

Third Class.—Nhycnapah, or Infant Catechism (introduced from Jaffna, and altered by the Rev. C. Winckler), by memory—First Book of Syllables and Spelling—Choudy—Writing upon the sand.

Fourth Class. — Ten Commandments —Alphabet.

All the Schools are expected to conclude with Prayer.

In addition to the visits of the Inspectors, the Boys of the six nearest Schools attend in the Compound every Wednesday Evening, from four o'clock till six, and are divided according to their classes; the boys of the first classes of the six Schools being formed into one; those of the second into another, &c.; and the Missionary and Inspectors examine and instruct them. I was present on one of these occasions, and examined the first and two last classes, through the Catechists. The result was as satisfactory as I could have expected; and indeed more so, considering the disadvantages under which the whole Establishment has for some time laboured. The questions I put to the two last classes were as follows, and one or more of the children gave answers. "Repeat the First Commandment." "I am &c." —"How many Gods may we have?" "Only One."— "Who is that One?" "God."—"Where is He?" "Everywhere."—"Shall we go to him, when we die?" "No."—"Where shall we go then?" "To Paradise," &c.—The first class were being examined in Matt. xvii. xviii. and xix. Some of the questions and answers were as follows:—"What did Jesus tell his disciples, in v. 22 and 23?" "That he should be betrayed &c." —"And did they kill him?" "Yes."—"How?" "They crucified him." They were ignorant of the fact, that our blessed Lord was nailed by his hands and feet, but were acquainted with the other leading particulars of his sufferings.—"Had he done any wrong?" "No."—"Why then did they kill him?" "Because they were wicked." — "What should you have done, if you had been there?" "Not done so."—Upon my directing the Catechist to tell them that probably they would have done as the rest, he, of his own accord, observed to them, "You know it is wrong to go and worship idols; and yet, when your father and mother and other people go, you accompany them, and do as they do. How then can you think you would not have done as the people did, when they killed Jesus Christ."—"Can you be with Jesus Christ, if your hearts are not made clean?" "No."—"How can they be made clean?" "God must do it, by His Holy Spirit."—"Will he do it without our asking?" Many said, "Yes." Some replied, "No." On the Catechist reminding them of what our Lord said in the viith chapter, and repeating the first word, "Ask," they took up the words, and seemed well acquainted with the text.—I then said, "Who is there among you, then, who does ask Jesus Christ to make him clean?" To which one boy replied, with much simplicity, "None of us." —I directed the Catechist to tell them, that it would please me more, if I knew of one boy who went by himself and really asked Jesus Christ to give him a new heart, than all their good answers; and, after a few more observations, dismissed them. The whole number present was 220: nearly all of them were Heathen, some having their foreheads marked with the symbol of Vishnu; others of Siva, red, white, or yellow, according to their gods and their caste, nearly all with ear-rings of gold and precious-stones, or imitations of them; some with nose-rings; most of them with bangles, and silver armlets or fetters.

Every quarter, the Schoolmasters assemble at the Mission House, and remain for two or three days, for the purpose of giving in their reports of the state of their Schools, &c.; on which occasions they are expected to come prepared with a certain portion of books, which they teach*, committed to memory, and are examined and instructed in the Scriptures and other books. They are then addressed by the Missionary, and the truth of God's word pressed home upon their consciences, with exhortations to diligence in their work; and prayer is offered to God. After this, they receive their quarter's pay, the fines which have been imposed being deducted; and they are then dismissed to their homes and occupations.

During my stay at Mayaveram, I directed that the Schoolmasters should be assembled; and, most happily, Brother Schaffter was present, and conducted all that part of the business which the Missionary usually undertakes. The opinion he gave quite coincided with mine, as far as I was competent to form one, that there was evidently much knowledge of Divine Truth among them, more than could have been expected, but that they did not seem so much interested in their work as those at Tinnevelly. I apprehend that there can be no doubt but that these Schools are steadily operating for good upon the whole circuit which contains them. There is good reason to think that the Truth commends itself to the consciences of the Heathen and of Roman-Catholic Schoolmasters, and of the children also; and that they are, speaking of them collectively, quite aware of the folly of their false religion, and, in their judgments, convinced that what they teach and are taught is from God. This is indeed but a step towards the great end in view; nevertheless, it is a step, and a most important one. It is enthusiasm to look for effects disproportioned to the means; and the means hitherto used have been, of necessity, very imperfect. If the work carried on by these Schools be considered only as preparatory, the prospect will be regarded, I should hope, as cheering. The fields are growing white for the harvest; or, if this be not conceded, the ground is broken up; and we may safely believe, that if Missionaries come and dwell among them, they will find a people prepared to receive the Gospel. Brother Schaffter warned the Masters, with much seriousness and affection, that they lay under a most solemn responsibility to inquire into the truth for themselves, as a matter in which they were personally and everlastingly interested; and, as he spoke under a deep feeling of the reality of what he uttered, so I believe it came with weight and power upon the hearts of these men. That there are any evidences of spiritual life among them, I cannot say: two of them, of whom the Catechists had before given a favourable report, wished to converse with Mr. Schaffter; and Mr. Schaffter was much encouraged by the interview.

There is also a Girls' School in the Compound, containing fifteen girls; but, in the present state of the Mission, it is not, I fear, in a very flourishing condition.

3. Seminary.

The Seminary is situated in the Compound, and was designed as a Boarding-school for the most hopeful Native Youths, in order that they might be duly qualified to become Catechists, &c. They were to be instructed in English and Tamul, in Mathematics and other sciences, and were to receive a more extended religious education than is given in the other Schools; while it was the further intention of the Committee to select a few, who were the most distinguished for piety and advancement in sound knowledge and consistent practice, for the Perambore Institution.

That the design was excellent, there can be no doubt; and several of those who are now in the service of the Society, in this Mission, are living testimonies of the advantages of such an institution. I am disposed to think, however, that the plan hitherto pursued admits of improvement: this, however, will be noticed in a subsequent part of the Report.

At the time of Mr. Winckler's leaving Mayaveram, the Seminary was in a very low state. The majority of the boys had come from Tranquebar: and when, in compliance with the Bishop's letter, Mr. Winckler endeavoured to effect the abolition of all Caste distinction, thirteen of the boys left the Seminary, and returned home.

The boys at present receiving instruction in the Seminary, sixteen in number, were carefully examined, by Mr. Schaffter, in my presence. Their knowledge of English is not worthy of notice; but they are as well acquainted with the history of the Old and New Testaments, and the great truths revealed in the Word of God, as any boys I have examined, of the same age, in our own country. The examination was, on the whole, very satisfactory, in all that relates to religious knowledge, as conveyed to their minds in their own language.

4. Readers.

These were seven in number. Their office was, to go out into the neighbouring villages, and to read and distribute Tracts; and, on their return, to report their day's labour to the Missionary. This arrangement does not appear to have been very judicious, as their sphere of labour was very confined; and the constant visiting of persons who were indifferent, and indisposed to hear, can hardly be supposed to have a beneficial effect, especially when we consider the limited knowledge of those engaged in the work; and that, probably owing in part to the other demands upon his time, the Missionary himself seems seldom to have added the influence of his own personal addresses to the people so visited.

5. Congregation.

It appears, from the Register of Baptisms, &c., that the total number of persons connected with this Mission, baptized since the time of its commencement in 1823, is, exclusive of Europeans, eighty-seven, and ten received into the Congregation from the Roman-Catholic Communion.

The present Congregation at Mayaveram consists of such Christians as reside at Mayaveram itself, and those who live in the village. These latter are very few in number; and come either once a year, or at the chief festivals of the Church, to receive the Lord's Supper.

I must not omit to state, that the conduct of the Congregation in regard to Caste has been, by comparison, very satisfactory. All distinctions and heathenish ceremonies, as far as I know, disappeared in every thing relating to Divine Worship; and I hope the time is not distant when the Soodras will partake of the rice and water of the Pariar without any thought of pollution.

I was present at the Baptism of two children by Mr. Schaffter; and I performed the ceremony of Marriage between two young people of the Congregation. The Baptism took place on the Lord's Day, after the Second Lesson in the Morning Service; the godfathers and godmothers presenting the children, and making the responses in a suitable manner. The marriage was performed on a week-day, in the Church, before the Congregation, at the time of their Morning Service. I read the Service in English, and the Head Catechist repeated it in Tamul. In the administration of the Sacrament of Baptism, I have in one Congregation (and only one) in England witnessed as much apparent devotion and propriety of conduct; but I have never yet been present at any Marriage of Christians which was conducted with such simplicity and seriousness, and so according to the intention of our Church. The young woman was a younger sister of the Head Catechist; and the young man is one of our Schoolmasters, who has long had religious advantages, but was only baptized from his heathen state about two years ago.

II. REDUCTIONS, ALTERATIONS, AND NEW ARRANGEMENTS.

[A variety of subjects here comes under review, which it is unnecessary to print in detail: the principal of which is, that the Seminary is, for the present, entirely abolished.]

III. FUTURE PLAN SUGGESTED.

It now only remains for me to lay before the Committee my views respecting the future disposal of the Mission; and to offer to their consideration the plan which appears to me most wise to pursue, and the grounds of my opinion.

Plan proposed.

1. I would recommend that land should be purchased; and small bungalows built at two of the neighbouring villages, at a distance of not less than three miles, nor more than six, so as to form a triangle with Mayaveram;—that each of these Stations be occupied by a Missionary; the places being sufficiently near to allow of constant intercourse and mutual aid, and sufficiently distant to prevent the evils which, unhappily, we are compelled, by experience, to acknowledge as attendant upon the plan of Missionaries living either in the same house or the same compound. I would suggest, that the first object of the Missionaries should be the careful cultivation of the space lying between them; the second, the extending their influence around, so that (if I may so express myself) each Station should be, at the same time, the extremity of a triangle, and the centre of a circle. To each Missionary should be assigned a proportion of the Schools at present in existence; and one of three Catechists should reside in each compound, whose experience in the work and knowledge of the English Language would at once be of no small advantage to the new Missionaries;—the Assistant Catechists occupying their present posts, under their respective Missionaries; and their number being increased accordingly, as means and men could be provided. If, as we may justly hope, the Lord is pleased to prosper the labours of those who might be sent here, fresh Stations might be occupied from time to time, and the hands of their Brethren strengthened by new Labourers.

2. I would propose the Restoration of the Seminary, but under a somewhat different system. The Missionary who has charge of the Seminary should be especially instructed to have such constant intercourse with the boys, as that they might be almost said to live with him. The most experienced persons in India will, I believe, agree in thinking it of the first importance, in any attempt to improve the Natives, that they should be so imbued with English principles and habits, as to look at objects with an English eye, and to treat them with English energy of mind. Now, it is evident that this effect cannot be produced to any extent by books or occasional addresses: such a spirit must be almost imperceptibly imbibed, day by day, by continual intercourse. A native mind thus formed upon an European model, and imbued with European energy, if it be indeed sanctified by the grace of God, will probably prove of more value than can well be told. And even if the hearts of some remain for a while unconverted, still it is no small advantage gained by the seminarist, that he should have breathed for a while the comparatively pure atmosphere of Christian morality to be found in a Missionary's family, and should be brought to act in any measure under the influence of sound moral principles. To enable the Missionary to exercise such an influence as this, I would recommend that he should have a smaller number of the Schools committed to his care than the others; and I would limit the number of seminarists to twenty. For the same reasons that I have so strongly urged a close intercourse between the Missionary and the Seminarists, I would advise a much greater attention to the acquirement of the English Language than seems to have been lately given.

It is right that the Committee should know that the whole of the plan thus proposed, excepting, I believe, what relates to the seminary, is merely a copy of that which has been long tried in Ceylon, and which experience has proved to be a good one. I am happy to think, also, that it entirely coincides in one respect with the views of the Parent Committee, inasmuch as it concentrates the labours of the Missionaries.

Reasons for the Plan proposed.

1. Mayaveram, in its present state, possesses this peculiar advantage. We have already a small Christian Community, of whom I cannot doubt but that the Lord is in the midst of these Native Labourers of some experience, and Schools of long standing; so that the whole country may be considered as having had much preparatory work bestowed upon it. The Tracts and copies of the Scriptures which have been distributed, the labours of the Catechists, and, above all, the Schools, must, of necessity, have "made things ready" for the Lord's Servants.

2. I may mention its convenient distance from Madras. A journey of three nights will convey a person or letter from one place to the other; and while it lies on one of the principal roads to the south, so as not to be excluded, it is entirely separated from all Europeans. Excepting the Sub-collector, who resides only a part of the year two miles distant, there is not a single European nearer than fifteen miles. Perhaps it is only those who are personally acquainted with India who can tell the temptation a Missionary is under to neglect his true work, when within the reach of the kind attentions of his own countrymen; and how much more likely he is to be blessed in his work, when he has to do with none but those for whose sake he has left his home, and to converse with few but those whose language he has to learn. I may add to this, that while he is near enough to the British Authorities to be even more secure in his person and property than in any part of England, he is not so near as to be molested and discouraged by the false professions of those who hope, through the Missionary, to have influence with the Collector or the Judge.

3. I may also notice its proximity to the coast, for the benefit of the sea-air; the comparative facility of obtaining provisions, medical advice, &c.; and, lastly, the great density of the population in this fertile and beautiful country, which secures abundance of labour in a small compass.

One difficulty remains to be noticed, which, in fact, appears to me the greatest of all—the want of suitable persons, as Missionaries, to enter upon this blessed work. The want of funds is trifling, compared with the want of Missionaries. But are we not, therefore, to lay out our plan? Is it to be counted as a visionary thing, if we aim at great things in the name of the Lord? I conceive that our part is, to consider whether we are seeking our own ends, and indulging our own fancies; or whether we are endeavouring, in the exercise of a sound judgment and discretion, to fulfil the Lord's will, and to seek His Glory, by gathering in His Redeemed, and extending His Church. The making known God's Truth in India is a trust given in an especial manner into the hands of the Church of England, as is evident from the situation she occupies in the midst of all other Churches. We, her members, are now engaged, in the strength of the Lord alone, in attempting to fulfil this trust: and shall we think the Lord will fail us? Faith surveys every difficulty, and then surmounts it; measures out her schemes in her Master's service, not by the rule of human impotency, but by the omnipotency of that Covenant God who has given all things into the hands of His dear Son for His Church's sake; and, resting upon the promises, prays to the Lord of the Harvest to send forth His Labourers, and waits till the Lord is gracious, and thereby gives glory to His Name. I trust, therefore, that I am not wrong in expressing to the Committee my hope that, upon these principles, they may see fit to proceed as if this difficulty were about to be removed, and to pray that it may be speedily.

REPORT OF THE MISSION TO THE ABORIGINES OF NEW HOLLAND.

STATION—WELLINGTON VALLEY.

(Printed by Order of the Council of New South Wales.)

THE Missionaries, Rev. Messrs. Watson and Handt, with their Wives, arrived at Wellington Valley on the 3rd October, 1832, accompanied by eight Natives who had joined them on the road. A few days after their arrival, they were visited by more than sixty Natives, many of whom were wild, and had come from 50 to 70 miles' distance. They were supplied with food, a small quantity of tobacco, and a few pipes. They were then interrogated as to their knowledge of who made them, the sun, trees, &c. Of this they appeared to be entirely ignorant; nor had they the least idea of a Supreme Being, of the immortality of the soul, or of a future state of existence. They were then informed that the Missionaries had been sent by the King of England to teach them the great truths of Religion, and to make them acquainted with Arts and Civilization. They answered to these things, "Budgery, budgery" (good, good). They did not remain many days, but have since paid several visits to the Mission. The Missionaries very speedily discovered that the Natives had been prejudiced against them by the stockmen in the neighbourhood; who told them that the men would be yoked and made to work as bullocks, and the children would be sent to Sydney and put in prison. A School was established at the commencement of the Mission, and has been continued. Here from twelve to twenty children have been under instruction at one time; some have occasionally left, and others have supplied their place. These have been taught to read and spell, and have been regularly instructed in the principles of the Christian Religion. It has not been discovered that these children and youths are in any degree inferior in intellect, or ability to learn, to those of civilized countries. They learn their Lessons, Hymns, Prayers, &c. as readily as children, in general, in an English school. That some moral reformation has been produced by the labours of the Missionaries among these degraded and unlettered tribes, is evident from this one circumstance; viz. That swearing in the English language, which is generally prevalent, is never practised in the hearing of the Missionaries by any Native who has occasionally been at the station. Instances have occurred of the Mission Boys correcting adult Natives for swearing, even at the expense of a good beating for their friendly admonition. Some time ago, a Native Youth, who was so deeply diseased as to render his recovery exceedingly doubtful, came to Mr. Watson for medical aid; he was at the time a notorious swearer. After being at the Establishment for some time, he recovered, and returned to his brethren forty miles distant. Shortly after his return, an English stockman swore at an unruly cow, in the hearing of the Native Youth, who reproved him, and said it was "no good to swear." He was asked why? He replied, "Because you will not go to heaven, if you swear." He was then asked, who told him so. He answered, "Good deal Mr. Watson talk that way, and good many books he have too, which talk that way all about." The Englishman acknowledged that it was very wrong to swear, and he would try to do so no more.

The demoralization and degradation of the women have, perhaps, no parallel among savage nations; for sad as is the state of the female generally under such circumstances, these seem degraded below the lowest of the low. They are commonly betrothed in their earliest infancy, and are not unfrequently taken soon after by their husbands. Then, too often, all moral restraint and honorable affection are cast away, and adultery in the most frightful latitude is permitted, both with the Aboriginal youths and European adults; and in the huts of the latter they are very commonly compelled to reside for a considerable time: but when with their husbands, they usually have to hunt for their own food, and even for their husbands'; and even in their journeys they have to carry what they may desire to take, from one place to another, and even the weapons of the husband. And it may be added, that they are often made the unwilling victims of their husbands' indolence, and the licentiousness of the Europeans. Indeed, the idleness of both sexes, and their willingness to receive either food or other articles without any labour, have led to a dreadful increase of their native habits of immorality; as the Europeans participate in them, who are ready to use threats, or even violence, when they find opposition to their vicious inclinations. The cruelty of some of these stockmen to the Natives of both sexes, it is to be greatly feared, will ultimately lead to revenge on the part of the Natives; and the result may be, the murder of any, or of every white man they meet with. Common as female prostitution is here, the Missionaries are happy to say, that one female, who has been under religious instruction at the Mission House, has, since that, been known repeatedly to repel the solicitations of white men; and has told them, as a reason for her conduct, that "God would see them," and that "God who sit down in heaven would be angry." That the children instructed at the Mission House believe the fundamental doctrines of the Christian Religion, is evident from the very interesting questions which they are constantly in the practice of asking. In the month of April, 1833, Mrs. Watson rescued a half-caste infant from immediate death. Its unnatural mother had so treated it, as to impress her own mind that it was already dead; and her female companion was preparing its grave, when Mrs. Watson discovered them. By the attention paid to it, it revived, and lived for three weeks, when the effects of its parents' unnatural conduct at its birth produced a disease which terminated its earthly existence. On this occasion, the Native Children at the Mission House were deeply affected, and asked, "Is baby in Heaven now? Has Jesus Christ taken it? Is it a little angel?"—There is abundant proof that some of the children who have left the Establishment, and gone into the bush for a season, have both repeated their prayers at night, and said grace before they partook of the opossum or the wild-cabbage.

Besides those who are under regular instructions, there are generally several others, youths and adults, at the Mission House. Their number is very fluctuating, and their stay very variable. Sometimes twenty or thirty will remain for a fortnight, and then take their departure. In a day or two, some of them, perhaps all, will return, and remain for a short time. But the very most of them attend morning and evening worship in the family, and at the Church on Sundays. We have had several visits from large numbers of Natives, and have made several tours into the bush. It is a remarkable circumstance, that the Natives have no desire to emulate white men, except in their vices. It is only by kind treatment, and trifling rewards, that even the young are brought to attend to their lessons. Were their desire to learn equal to their abilities, they would soon make great proficiency. After the experience of every act of kindness for twelve months, it is a lamentable fact, that the Natives, even in this neighbourhood, are afraid that the Missionaries have some evil intentions towards them. It is rather surprising that they will believe what the stockmen say, rather than be convinced of the purity of the intentions of the Missionaries, when they have received so many acts of kindness from the latter.

The expenditure of the Mission has, during this, its first year, been unavoidably heavy; and indeed it must continue to be so, if, as has been the case during the past year, all the supplies needed for the Establishment, in future, have to be procured in Sydney, or at Bathurst, or, indeed, if they will have to be purchased at all. The Missionaries, aware of this, have availed themselves of the facilities afforded them by the generous act of His Excellency the Governor, in assigning a certain portion of land at Wellington Valley for the use of the Mission. Accordingly, in the month of July last, twenty acres of wheat were sown; which, however, from the unparalleled dryness of the season, has all perished. About ten acres of maize-corn has since been planted, and is in a promising state. When there has been raised at Wellington Valley a sufficient number of stock, and grain enough, to warrant such a procedure, the Missionaries think it highly desirable to form a Station among the wild Black Natives, where they have not been corrupted by intercourse with Europeans. Such a Station might be very conveniently supplied from Wellington Valley, where Missionary efforts will still be in operation, and as diligently attended to as at present.

A Vocabulary of the Language is in a state of preparation.
